State-Wide Spotlight On Senate Seat Fight

The tempo is rising steadily in the battle for the seat in the State Senate left vacant by the death of the late Senator Michael J. Galvin of Newton.

Opposing contenders in a political struggle which is beginning to command statewide attention are Representative Beryl W. Cohen, the Democratic nominee, and Representative Freyda P. Koplow, the Republican standard-bearer, both of Brookline.

Their fight will be settled when the voters go to the polls a week from next Tuesday, April 14, to ballot in the special election.

Wards 1, 6 and 7 of Newton are included in the senatorial district in which the special election will be held. Also in the district are the Town of Brookline and the Ward 22 section of Allston and Brighton.

Both the Democratic and Republican state organizations are going all-out to win the election.

The Democrats are fighting to hold the seat which the late Senator Galvin wrested away from the GOP in 1962.

The Republicans are battling to win back the seat not only for the vote and voice it represents in the Senate but because of the political significance which would be attached to a GOP victory.

Both parties are planning to move their big guns into the senatorial district in the 12 days remaining before the special election.

Senator Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, the State's most popular public figure, will take to the stump for Cohen this weekend. Kennedy will call for Cohen's election at a big rally in the K. of C. Hall in Brighton on Sunday.

Coming into Newton to speak at house parties and coffee hours held to promote Cohen's candidacy will be Governor Endicott Peabody, Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti, Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and Senator Kevin B. Harrington.

Senator Kennedy To Aid Cohen Candidacy

Senator Edward M. Kennedy will take the stump next Sunday for Representative Beryl W. Cohen of Brookline who is the Democratic nominee in the special election to be held a week from next Tuesday (April 14) to fill the seat in the State Senate left vacant by the death of the late Senator Michael J. Gilvin of Newton.

The special election will be held in the senatorial district which takes in Wards 1, 6 and 7 of Newton, the entire town of Brookline and the Ward 22 section of Allston and Brighton.

Cohen won the Democratic nomination in decisive fashion in last week's primary as he ran far ahead of a field of seven challengers.

The tabulation of the primary ballo ts had hardl been completed when an all-out drive aimed at the April 14 election was launched by Cohen and his supporters.

Democratic leaders and a small army of college students from Boston College, Harvard, Holy Cross, Tufts, and Boston University rallied in the campaign behind Cohen.

Representative Cohen himself set a fast tempo to his election drive as he campaigned through the three Newton wards and other parts of the senatorial district, meeting voters at bus stops and shopping centers, introducing himself and asking their support.

Meanwhile, efforts are underway to try to roll up a sizeable vote for Cohen in Wards 1, 6 and 7.

Cohen's wife, the former Barbara Lebowich, was herself a Newton resident prior to her marriage.

Named as coordinators of Cohen's campaign in Ward 1 were Representatives Joseph G. Bradley, Anthony Pellegrini and Joseph McDonnell.

Coordinators for Cohen in Wards 6 and 7 are Herbert Regal, Lawrence E. Cooke, Melvin Chalfen and Milton Cooke.

More than 20 house parties and coffee hours will be held in Newton for Cohen between now and the election. Speakers at some of the affairs will include Governor Endicott Peabody, Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti, State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and Senator Kevin B. Harrington.

Cohen, who is now completing his second term in the House of Representatives, was recently chosen as one of Greater Boston's 10 outstanding young men of the year and was presented an award by Undersecretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr.

He is 29 years old, a graduate of Boston College and B. C. Law School and is a member of the Boston and Massachusetts Bar Associations.

During his four years on Beacon Hill, Cohen has received state-wide recognition for his efforts to eliminate inequities in criminal and mental health laws. He is married and the father of one child.

Representative Cohen was enthusiastically greeted when he outlined his campaign plans at a meeting of the Newton Democratic City Committee.

Other speakers at the affair included Representatives Irving Fishman and Joseph G. Bradley, both of Newton. Democratic City Committee Chairman Lawrence E. Cooke presided at the affair.

Eaton Seeks 2nd Term On GOP Committee

Republican State Committeeman Frank C. Eaton of Needham is standing for re-election in the Norfolk-Middlesex senatorial district which covers Wards 2, 3, 4, 5 and 8 of Newton along with the towns of Dedham, Needham, Wellesley and Weston.

Eaton declared that he is seeking a second term on the GOP State Committee at the request of Republican leaders because no other experienced committee members are running for reelection in the district.

"Two of the three incumbents are retiring from the committee this year, and since I have been sharing responsibility with them for the towns in Senator Cutler's district, the need has been stressed for retaining the one experienced State Committee member in this district, especially since neither candidate in the separate contest for State Committeewoman has been on the State Committee before," Eaton asserted.

"I bring a record of continuous and successful promotion to the Republican organization since 1950," Eaton continued. "Starting as a precinct worker in Wellesley-Needham, then moving to chairman of the Needham Republican Town Committee in 1956, I was elected State Committeeman in 1960. In that contest I received the largest vote given to anyone in that district.

"I was then elected by my fellow members as chairman of the Republican organization in the second councillor district and went on the important executive committee of the Republican State Committee for three and a half years.

"While chairman in this councillor district we were successful in 1962 in electing the only Republican to win a place on the Governor's Council in the last four years, the dynamic Margaret Heckler of Wellesley.

Eaton observed that while population movements from the larger cities have engulfed the Republican organizations in some suburban areas, the Republican registration has risen in the four towns in Senator Cutler's district.

All four towns — Needham, Dedham, Wellesley and Weston — exceeded the voting quota set for state-wide GOP victory by the Republican State Chairman in the 1962 election, Eaton reported.

This was accomplished through a unified effort, good precinct organization and the hard work of hundreds," he said. "The large Republican turnout in these towns was a big factor in Mrs. Heckler's victory," Eaton pointed out.

He said that if he is re-elected to the Republican State Committee on April 28 he will seek to strengthen further the GOP organization in the four towns of his district and attempt to encourage more of the same spirit and effort in the Newton wards.

Eaton is the New England advertising manager for the Ladies' Home Journal and the administrative consultant for the New England advertising office of the Curtis Publishing Co. He graduated from Harvard College in 1938.

He served in the navy for five years during World War II and retired with the rank of lieutenant commander after being awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

Mr. Eaton has resided in Needham for 14 years with his wife and their four children. He has been active in community and PTA as well as Republican affairs in that town.

FREYDA P. KOPLOW

Koplow Fight Is Commended On Seat Belts

Representative Freyda P. Koplow, who is making a strong campaign for election to the State Senate, has been commended by the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs for her leadership in a successful fight for the enactment of a law requiring seat belts in new automobiles.

Mrs. Koplow, one of the most respected legislators on Beacon Hill, last week won the Republican nomination for the Senate in the senatorial district which includes Wards 1, 6 and 7 of Newton as well as the town of Brookline and the Ward 22 section of Allston and Brighton.

She was invited to be present when Governor Peabody signed into law a bill requiring front seat belts on all new cars sold in Massachusetts beginning next Jan. 1.

Beaten down by opponents many times over the past five years, the safety measure was this year tied up in committee studies.

Another similar bill sponsored by the Governor seemed doomed when Representative Koplow moved its reconsideration and after a prolonged fight obtained the passage of the measure in the House.

Amended in the Senate, the bill finally was enacted and signed into law by the Governor.

Mrs. Koplow is the assistant Republican floor leader in the House and is the first woman ever to hold that post.

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs this week paid high tribute to Mrs. Koplow. The Mayor declared that she has achieved an outstanding record in the House and has the capacity to make an excellent Senator.

Representative Koplow is seeking the seat in the State Senate left vacant by the death of the late Senator Michael J. Galvin. The special election will be held a week from next Tuesday (April 14).

Seals -

"Since the establishment of a second traveling rehabilitation team which is providing services in Southeastern Massachusetts," Jenney said, "four more communities have requested the Easter Seal Society to provide similar demonstration projects in their areas. If we are to expand programs to meet these increasing needs and at the same time maintain present services, we not only must meet but also top the 1964 goal."

The Easter Seal campaign is the chief source of support of two traveling rehabilitation teams which take services into local communities, vocational counseling for handicapped teenagers, rehabilitation nursing, a J.O.B. (Just One Break) placement service, case services, information and referral service.

Also help in obtaining artificial limbs and equipment, camperships, public and professional education, and a program to eliminate architectural barriers to the handicapped and aging in public-used buildings. Easter Seals also help to support the Rehabilitation Center of Worcester.

Road To Good Citizenship

The upcoming Boys Club Week in Newton, observed in conjunction with the event nationally, will provide an excellent opportunity for local citizens to become more fully aware of the contributions to better community welfare made by the club.

Boys Clubs have a faculty for attracting a high type of adult male to work as leaders and instructors of the small boys enrolled as members. This holds true in Newton where the instructors and the busy executive director, Samuel Crocetti, bring a true dedication to their work.

Throughout the year, a staff of adults contribute greatly to the success of the varied programs in effect at the local club. Association with these clubs is a definite start in the right direction along the trail to good citizenship for growing boys.

The Boys Clubs are a refreshing substitute for the pool-room and street corner gangs. It is true that all parents do not avail themselves of the fine environment of the Boys Club for their youngsters. Nevertheless, the clubs are there and ready to provide the services for which they are deservedly famous.

Law enforcement officials from J. Edgar Hoover down have long been exponents of Boys Clubs as the means for helping launch young lads on careers of useful citizenship.

A variety of projects and courses, games and other activities are provided for enjoyment and instruction. Boys Club membership is fun, as any lad will agree who belongs.

A visit to the Newton Boys Club will reveal the many aspects of service dispensed in the interests of the young members. It is instantly recognized as an admirable stepping off place on this rugged road to good citizenship. A road, by the way, bestrewn with pitfalls for many youngsters today.

Boys Clubs, Boy Scouts, YMCAs, CYO, and other kindred organizations are sorely needed in our contemporary world. The path from boyhood to manhood is not rose-bordered, smooth-paved nor too brightly illuminated.

It can be a mine-field, treacherous and menacing. Fatalities have been numerous among many of those who sought to negotiate it. One safe course to follow is through the doors of the local Boys Club.

So, let's take a good look at our Boys Club during the week ahead. Take an interest in it and support it. Look at the healthy, manly youngsters who belong, and recognize the king-sized job being turned in by the men who stand at the helm of the Newton Boys Club.

Theirs is a vital responsibility which must be shouldered by someone. They assume it cheerfully and bring to it a joy and vigor which only can be attained by men of dedication. Boys Club Week is a good time to express our appreciation.

Scrutiny Time For Autos

It's that time of year again when the family automobile must be taken in for its semi-annual physical check-up. Even the worst laggard among us will have no excuse for not getting the job done before the deadline. This year it's May 15th.

For those concerned with the esthetic aspect of the sticker change, the new windshield adornment will be white.

Nine items will face rigid inspection at this spring session. Brakes, lights, horn, muffler, steering gear—the front end must be jacked up,—number plates, windshield, windshield wipers, and rear window.

The Registry of Motor Vehicles has set a maximum fee of one dollar for the inspection itself. A "rejection" sticker will be slapped on if the vehicle fails to pass the tests. Motorists getting one of these are urged to exercise all reasonable speed to have the necessary repairs made.

As in past years, many stations will not charge regular customers for the inspection; other stations will choose to collect the money for some worthwhile charity, according to Registrar Lawton.

The Registrar went on to point out that this year another major charity which inspection stations and motorists might wish to contribute to is the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

Car inspections in this day of mounting traffic deaths and injuries are of extreme importance and should be rigidly enforced. As a reminder to those who might be inclined to be slip-shod about the whole thing, the Registry will institute some 30,000 "spot" checks during the 45 days of the current season.

Meeting And Election At Local Church

The Woman's Association of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church will hold its annual meeting on Wednesday, April 8th in the parish house of the church.

Following this there will be a luncheon at twelve o'clock, Mrs. William E. Lowery, chairman and Mrs. Henry W. Nelson, co-chairman.

The annual business meeting and election of officers will be held at one o'clock. The closing worship services will include the dedication of the second mile gifts and the installation of officers.

The performance also will be given on Sunday evening, April 2 at the First Church in Cambridge at 8 o'clock.

Both are free concerts but a collection will be taken up to help defray expenses.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

April 28 Popularity Poll Worries Peabody Advisers

Governor Peabody's advisers are privately apprehensive that Peabody will make a poor showing in the Democratic delegate-at-large popularity poll which will be one of the highlights of the April 28 Presidential Primary.

Their concern developed after studying the results of a survey made to determine how voters across the Commonwealth feel about Peabody.

While the survey did not necessarily foretell defeat for Peabody next November, it did show that a great many people are not impressed by his administration as Governor and that he could be in for trouble.

What is especially disturbing Peabody's lieutenants right now is that any signs of weakness on his part in the Presidential Primary could mean a stiffer battle for him both at the Democratic State Convention and in the September primary.

Two things appear to have hurt Peabody more than anything else.

One was his fight last year for the repeal of capital punishment.

The other was the blast Boston Mayor John F. Collins levelled at him at the start of this year for not the students, noted that the Newton Rotary Club is keenly increased in American Field Service. The club has consistently helped to support the A.F.S. Newton Chapter's exchange program which brings foreign students to live and study in Newton and also sends Newton students abroad.

Two of the students, Yvonne Baginsky and Robert Joyce, brought greetings and presented flags to the local Rotary group from Rotary clubs in the cities in Brazil and Chile where they had lived. The Newton Club is having a large banner made on which to display these and other "friendship flags" from all over the world.

Miss Baginsky, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Rolf Baginsky of Waban, and a senior at Newton South High School, told the group that the Rotary Club in her town of Sao Leopoldo was very strong and that her Brazilian "father" Dr. Elio Dickie, was a leading member.

She described the warmth and gaiety of the Brazilians who are, in general, she said, much more easy going than Americans. Her Brazilian family has innumerable relatives, she continued, and there was a great deal of visiting back and forth with much fun and laughter.

However, Yvonne saw some of the tragic aspects of Brazilian life in her settlement work in the slums. Although there are good private schools in Brazil, such as the one Yvonne attended, many children in Brazil receive no schooling. Brazil is potentially one of the wealthiest countries in the world but at present there are extremes of poverty and wealth, and it is difficult, according to Yvonne, to solve the serious problem of distribution.

The A.F.S. experience is varied as demonstrated by the contrast between Yvonne's life in tropical Brazil and that of Anne Brudevold in rainy England and Wales. Anne, also of South High, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Finn Brudevold of Waban, spent last summer with a Welsh family, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Gay, in England and Wales.

The Newton Rotary Club is especially interested in Wales since the local group has its "brother" Rotary in Cardiff and the president of the Newton Rotary, Richard F. Thompson has just returned from a District Rotary-sponsored trip to Wales. Like Mr. Thompson, Anne found the Welsh a sturdy, strong minded, industrious, friendly and talkative people, ready to argue a point for into the night. She described how the short trip across the Bristol Channel takes one into a country vastly different from England both in people and scenery.

She mentioned that although the Welsh are interested in the outside world, they are also very proud of their Welsh traditions and language. Anne found the publicized reserve of Britishers to be absent altogether in Wales and only on the surface in England, disappearing quickly once the ice was broken. There was free discussion on every possible subject, including the monarchy, she said, which was often criticized while accepted as a traditional institution.

The third returnee, Bob Joyce of Newton High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Joyce of Newton, lived for a year with Mr. and Mrs. Jose Perez in Talcahuano, Chile. Bob learned that Chileans think all Americans are tall and blond, and since he, himself, is a six footer and quite blond, he found it difficult to convince his Chilean friends that there are people of all sizes and color in North America.

The outlook in Chile is very different from that in the United States, Bob said. Since Chileans have so little to look forward to in terms of a better standard of living,, their motto is "We live for today."

The three American Field Service students are all members of the National Honor Society.

They have a large range of interests and activities. For example, Yvonne is a member of the International Club and is on the staff of the high school Year Book, Bob is an honorary member of the Newton Spanish Club and works with Cuban refugee groups and Anne is a member of the French Honor Society and is co-editor of the high school literary magazine "Reflections."

Artists -

The festival will feature displays in the realm of the fine arts as sculpture, oil painting, water coloring, woodcuts, terra cotta and pen and ink.

Recent nation-wide publicity given the principal artists whose works will be featured has added distinction to the Arts Festival. The national news magazine, Time, has bestowed favorable mention in its Art Section to the works of David Aronson and Chaim Gross.

Professor Baskin was the subject of a four-page "Personality profile" in Life Magazine early this year.

Heading the Arts Festival Committee are George Roberts and Mayo Larkin, assisted by the executive officers of the sponsoring Temple Emanuel organizations, Mrs. Daniel Jacobs, Sisterhood president; Dr. Franklin Nusbaum, Brotherhood president; Dr. and Mrs. Frank Berson, Couples Club leaders, and Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Baker, heading the Parents-Teachers organization.

Members of the planning committee for the Arts Festival include Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Benjamin, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bloom, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Cohen, Bernard Dresner, Mrs. Maurice Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Freed, Dr. and Mrs. Robert S. Friedman, Bernard L. Goldberg, Mrs. Irving Geltman, Mrs. Jack Y. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Greenblatt, Edgar Grossman, Mr. and Mrs. Nissie Grossman, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Helfant, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Luck, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rosenthal, Mrs. J. Charles Santis, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Stone, Mrs. Paul Wallens, Mrs. Sherman Waterman, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Werman and Mrs. Sidney Yoffe.

On the Republican side Newton Mayor Donald L. Gibbs and ex-Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., both are energetically supporting Representative Koplow. Gibbs in a statement today expressed the opinion that Mrs. Koplow is eminently qualified to serve in the State Senate.

Mrs. Koplow is completing her fifth term in the House of Representatives. Representative Cohen is serving his second term in the House. He was recently selected as one of the 10 outstanding young men in Greater Boston.

A large number of energetic young college and law school students are out ringing doorbells and buttonholing voters for Cohen.

Both Cohen and Mrs. Koplow have made a number of visits to Newton in their endeavors to marshall public support behind their candidacies.

Because this is a special election political observers will be watching closely to see which party does the better job of getting out its vote a week from next Tuesday.

The district itself is considered a marginal one which could go either Democratic or Republican. Both Cohen and Mrs. Koplow carried Newton in their respective primary fights.

Now that April Fool's Day is behind us, let us get to the business at hand, which is to stir men's interest in spring men's wear stylings at Jacques. They're great . . . and that's no fooling!
To really learn that spring is here without having to seek out a robin or two, trying visiting Jacques in Newton Corner. The windows are springy, with sprightly furnishings that will waft men out of the wintertime doldrums.
Jacques' recognition of spring is highlighted by a limited-time-only special grouping of quality topcoats at substantial savings. These are the ever-popular all-wool gabardines with a silky-finish hand. Offered in putty, black, and brown-olive shades, the coats sell regularly for $59.50. But this price has been slashed for a limited time to $39.50. No fooling!
Since gabs are coming back, Jacques is seeing to it that the trend gets a good start on the road back. Savings of $20 on each luxury coat just can't be matched anywhere.
And while you're in a savings mood, you might also want to take advantage of Jacques' other special offer. This is a "first week in April" event that offers eight styles of French Shriner top-quality men's shoes at 20 percent off regular prices. This selection has a good size scale, and French Shriner's unchallenged quality is built into every pair.
These are two great springtime events that are easy on the pocketbook, and can help banish those wintertime blues. If they sound too good to be true, just remember this: Jacques is still building a solid base for business on friendly service to men who want quality clothing in a store they can depend on. We'd be the world's greatest fools if we ever tried fooling you.

Rotary Sponsors Pancake Festival Thursday, April 9 At Dedham High Cafeteria

The Dedham Rotary Club is sponsoring an Aunt Jemima all-you-can-eat-for-99 cents pancake festival next Thursday, April 9, at the Dedham High School cafeteria between 4:30 and 8:30 o'clock. Tickets for children are 50 cents.

With the initial order of piping hot pancakes, prepared under the expert advice of two chefs of the Quaker Oats people to insure no soggy dough, there will be ham and a beverage — coffee, milk or soft drink, and maple syrup of course.

Customers will be permitted seconds, thirds and fourths for as many pancakes as they can consume. As a door prize, the Rotary Club will present each woman a box of Aunt Jemima pancake flour.

Every member of the Dedham Rotary Club—businessmen, doctors, lawyers, opticians and other professions — has an assigned job, whether it be mixing batter, serving, clearing dishes, etc.

The joint effort of the Rotarians is to raise funds for the charitable educational program. Last year the Dedham Rotary donated $2,000 for such purposes.

In addition to the advice expected from two professional chefs, the Dedham group has accepted the volunteer services of John Kunhardt of Dedham, member of the Milton Rotary Club, which recently held a highly successful pancake festival of its own.

Tickets will be available at the door as well as from members of the Rotary Club. General Chairman George DeVoe said advance ticket sales have been excellent.

STANLEY MILLER

Seat On GOP Committee Is Aim Of Miller

Stanley Miller of 11 Llewellyn road, West Newton, is campaigning for election as Republican State Committeeman from the senatorial district which includes Wards 2, 3, 4, 5 and 8 of Newton as well as the towns of Needham, Dedham, Wellesley and Weston.

An honor graduate of Harvard College and the Harvard Business School, Miller is vice president and general manager of Stanmar, Inc., leading prefabricators of dwellings, churches and motels in the East.

Active in Republican affairs, Miller has served as a member of the Republican City Committee for seven years, as finance chairman for two years, was treasurer and a member of the board of directors of the Newton Republican Club, was a delegate to the Republican State Committee and has served in other capacities for the Newton Republican City Committee.

He was a member of the Newton Planning Board for three years and the Newton Park Commission for three years.

Miller declares a reinvigoration of the Republican party in Massachusetts is necessary, that he has a program to achieve that goal and the background and energy to effectively aid in its accomplishment.

His three-point program is: 1. Develop a consistent Republican philosophy. 2. Work out a program based on that philosophy. 3. Implement that program effectively.

"I reject on one hand the thesis that the federal government is the source of all wisdom and that all major problems must be solved by government intervention." Miller declared in expounding his philosophy, " I also do not believe on the other hand that problems can be solved in the relatively simple manner of yesteryear.

"All Republicans can unite around a philosophy based on the thesis that the central virtue and objective of western civilizaeion is individual freedom; that civilization and the satisfaction of human wants progresses most quickly when the individual is given the maximum freedom of decision and implementation; and that the job of government is to guard that freedom and to see to it that decisions are made and carried out by the individual or by a governmental level as close to the individual as possible."

Discussing his program, Miller expressed the opinion that Republicans must "look upon our Republican organization as a business whose objective is selling Republicanism."

"This product has to be packaged handsomely, and modern techniques of public relations, marketing, salesmanship and data processing, to name a few, should be utilized in producing and selling it.

"We must organize to do the job in a modern business-like manner," Miller continued. "The details of a program based upon this approach can easily be worked out."

Miller is 32 years old, married and the father of three children.

House -

The room became enveloped in a cloud of dust, and the family's TV set shot across the floor and came to rest within five feet of the frightened lad.

The cause of it all was a collision outside that sent one of the involved cars crashing into a front window of the house with such force that the wall was buckled.

The car, operated by a Wellesley man, Bernard R. Smith, was in collision with one whose driver was Mary T. Glidden of 96 College Rd., Chestnut Hill. Both drivers were injured, and Smith was treated for facial cuts at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

At the time of the episode, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keyes were at church with their six-months-old son, Richard. The father said that they had decided at the last minute to take the little chap along. If he had been left at home, he said, he might have been playing on the floor in the path of the flying television set.

Newton Red Cross Chapter, tells anxious callers seeking word of relatives and friends in the Alaskan disaster area that as yet only a single telephone line to the outside is open, and requests for its use are being carefully screened.

The military command, she reported, has instructed all servicemen to communicate with their families at home by means of postcards, and some of them have been received here.

Following are residents of Newton who have sought word through the Red Cross: Arthur R. Hahn of Newtonville, inquiring about his son, Arthur Jr., an Anchorage attorney; the Rev. Thomas J. Carroll of St. Paul's Center for the Blind, whose sister, Elizabeth, is a homesteader; Mrs. Thomas F. Drew of 116 Jewett st., Newton, hoping for assurance that her son is safe; Mrs. Clarence Murray of Auburndale, whose husband is in Alaska on temporary Air Force duty, and Mrs. Beverly Parker, whose husband, Capt. Robert Parker, is in the Aleutian Islands.

The local Red Cross suggests that when communication lines become available, personal calls be placed directly by local residents to their kin.

Charity Ball Aids Medical Mission

Hot Latin colors and rhythm will create a South-of-the-Border mood in the main ballroom of the Sheraton Plaza on April 3 when the Physicians' Guild of St. Luke holds its spring fiesta, a charity ball to benefit a small South American medical mission.

Doctors' wives, headed by Mrs. Joseph L. Kennedy of Milton, whose husband is president of St. Luke's Guild, are holding morning coffees this week to help their husbands plan the affair and address the handsome invitations which bear the red, blue and gold crest of Richard Cardinal Cushing, co-sponsor of the ball.

Local women who attended a coffee hour at the home of Mrs. William J. Egan, 1547 Centre street were Mrs. Francis W. Drinan, Mrs. Thomas J. Ford, Mrs. Ray S. Jones, Mrs. Arthur G. Melville all of Newton Centre; Mrs. Joseph P. Lynch of Newton; Mrs. Robert Noonan of Wellesley Hills, and Mrs. Joseph L. Kennedy of Milton.

Six hundred guests are expected to attend the gourmet dinner planned by Dr. Paul J. Catinella of Wellesley, a member of Les Amies d'Escoffier and dance to the music of Harry Marchard in a floral setting designed by Ruth Traynor.

Proceeds of the Ball will benefit Riberalta Hospital in Bolivia, conducted by the Maryknoll Sisters, and support the work of Sister Maureen Thomas, a Maryknoll nun-doctor. Sister Maureen Thomas is a native of Fall River and did her internship and surgical residency at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Brighton. She will fly to Boston from Bolivia to accept the gift.

St. Luke's Guild, a fifty-four-year-old organization, now has a membership of over 500 Catholic physicians from the greater Boston area. Mrs. Egan's husband, a former president of the Guild, is general chairman of the spring fiesta.

Political Highlights

facing up to the problems of taxes and mass transportation.

Collins, who energetically supported Peabody in 1962 and played a major part in accomplishing his election, wasn't seeking to harm Peabody politically but was striving to prod him into doing something.

But when Peabody reacted negatively and gave every indication that he was sweeping pressing problems under the rug until after election, Collins' speech did have a damaging effect.

A strange thing about Peabody is that it seems he hasn't really tried to build his political fences while he has been in office as most successful politicians do.

He also has an unerring faculty for antagonizing people by involving himself in unnecessary squabbles.

An example was his attempt to prevent State Senator Francis X. McCann of Cambridge from heading a special legislative commission which is to investigate parole procedures and prisoner rehabilitation programs.

McCann has a big following of friends in Peabody's home city, and it's doubtful that they'll be hunting for Peabody's name on the ballot when they go to the polls April 28.

Peabody reportedly has been encouraging Registrar of Motor Vehicles James R. Lawton to challenge State Senator James W. Hennigan, Jr., of Jamaica Plain for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General.

Hennigan so far has been unopposed for the right to run as the Democratic candidate for Attorney General. He has built up substantial support from Democratic leaders throughout Massachusetts, and it's unlikely that he would step aside for Lawton or anyone else at this stage of his campaign.

Lawton won the nod of the 1962 Democratic State Convention but then lost to Francis E. Kelly in the primary. He subsequently declined to endorse Kelly against Edward W. Brooke.

Hennigan presumably doesn't expect to get the Attorney General nomination without a fight. It's not likely, however, that he would look kindly upon the idea of Peabody promoting opposition for him.

Politicos Await New Indictments

An uneasy, uncertain atmosphere exists on Beacon Hill where politicians and pundits alike try to assess the political effects of the indictments which have stemmed from the sweeping Crime Commission investigation and await further indictments considered certain to come.

It would be ironic if the probe conducted by the crime board appointed by former Governor John A. Volpe were to damage Volpe's chances of achieving a political comeback. Yet, that may prove to be the fact.

The indictment of State Pubilc Safety Commissioner Frank S. Giles has scrambled the Republican gubernatorial picture.

In a sense it was a blow to the entire Republican party although probably not as heavy a one as some political observers seem to believe.

Indications are that there will be more indictments of prominent public figures, most of them Democrats, in the days and weeks ahead.

Whatever temporary damage has been done to the GOP cause by the indictment of Giles could and very likely will be offset by coming developments. From the standpoint of the two political parties it would be unwise to try to estimate the effect of the corruption issue at this time.

However, ex-Governor Volpe, who appointed Giles to the sensitive position as head of the State police, unquestionably has suffered a setback in his drive for the GOP gubernatorial endorsement because of Giles' indictment.

The political repercussions from the indictment of Giles are unfair to Volpe, especially since Giles' innocence or guilt will not be established until he stands trial and is is acquitted or convicted.

Nevertheless, the public reaction to the indictment of Giles was so great that it made an impact upon politicians and prospective delegates even though they know there should be no presumption of guilt in connection with indictments.

A lot of Republicans, stunned by the indictment of Giles, are virtually certain to take a new hard look at the fight for the right to run as their party's nominee for Governor.

Up to now it appeared that Volpe was well out in front in the GOP gubernatorial race. Whether he can remain there remains to be seen. It is an under-statement to report that his position has not been enhanced by the Giles indictment.

Perry Gains Ground In Governor Drive

Ex-Representative Francis W. Perry appears to be picking up ground in his drive for the Republican nomination for Governor.

Perry was the last of the three candidates to enter the GOP gubernatorial race and for a period was handicapped by his rather late start.

Recent surveys, however, have disclosed that Perry has strong support in such areas as the South Shore, Cape Cod, Southeastern Massachusetts and the western end of the State and is steadily gaining strength in other sections.

If he can maintain his present pace, Perry may produce one of the big surprises at the Republican conclave.

Peabody Says Delegates Don't Like To Go Home

With typical tact and diplomacy, Governor Peabody told his press conference the other day that the Greater Boston delegates to the Democratic State Convention desire the conclave held away from Boston because they don't want to go home at night.

What he meant by this, Peabody subsequently explained, is that the delegates like to sit around and talk things over with other delegates.

How many arguments were started in the homes of the would-be delegates by-the Governor's off-the-cuff remarks is impossible to estimate although it's pretty safe to say Mr. Peabody made no contribution to domestic tranquility in the households of numerous Democratic politicos.

Equally intriguing is the question of how Governor Peabody knows the delegates don't want to go home at night during the convention since the delegates will not be chosen until after the ward and town committees are elected in the April 28th Presidential Primary.

Even though some delegates might like to sit around and talk with the boys between convention sessions, the hard fact remains that there is no city in Massachusetts except Boston which has the facilities to accomodate a convention.

The truth also is that most delegates would prefer to go home between convention sessions rather than stay at some over-crowded hotel with inadequate accommodations.

If the June Democratic Convention is held in New Bedford, which is being considered as a possible site, most Greater Boston delegates will be obliged to go home since there just won't be any places for them to spend the night.

A big blunder was made two years ago when the Democratic conclave was held in Springfield, and some delegates were quartered in motels stretching half way back to Boston.

The facilities and accomodations in Springfield itself were totally inadequate, and many of the delegates started home before the convention was half completed.

On the basis of Governor Peabody's comments it would appear that instead of profiting from their 1962 experience, the Democratic leaders planning for their party's coming conclave are going to repeat the mistake and possibly make an even bigger one.

Perhaps, however, Peabody's remarks pointed up the absurdity of the situation and made it impossible for the convention to be held anywhere except in Boston. He performed a real service for most delegates and political writers if he did that.

Lyndon Would Win If Election Today

Pollsters who have been making tests of voter sentiment have come up with two extremely interesting conclusions.

One is that President Lyndon B. Johnson would defeat any Republican opponent if an election were held today.

The other is that Henry Cabot Lodge appears to be the front runner in next month's Presidential Primary in Oregon.

The news concerning Johnson is not surprising. LBJ has made an extremely favorable impression upon the voters since assuming the Presidency while none of the GOP Presidential contenders has been able to start any real wave of public enthusiasm.

A recent survey, incidentally, showed that Johnson would carry Massachusetts over any Republican adversary except Lodge.

Reports that Lodge may duplicate his feat in New Hampshire and top the field in Oregon should cause a lifting of political eyebrows.

If he does that, some of the Republican professional politicians who don't like him and don't want him as their party's candidate may have to view him a little more seriously.

From Washington comes the disclosure that a group of State Department officials hope Lodge will come in the victor in Oregon. Their reason is that they would like to see him resign as Ambassador to Vietnam. They claim that Lodge too often is inaccessible and frequently is less energetic than they think he should be.

Red Cross On Major Relief Job In Alaska

Many local residents were among those calling the Greater Boston Red Cross last weekend to inquire about relatives and friends who might have been affected by the Alaskan earthquake, according to a report issued by Ray A. Ely, Red Cross Chatper Chairman.

Over the weekend, the Red Cross received more than 400 inquiries about relatives and friends who might have been affected by the disaster.

Special teams of regular and volunteer telephone operators manned the switchboards and gathered information about each request.

Those persons seeking information on family members who are serving in the armed forces were told that Lt. General Raymond Reeves, Chief of the Alaskan Command has stated that there were no known casualties among military personnel or their families.

The Red Cross did accept priority welfare inquiries on persons who were either thought to be living alone, or known to be ill. These priority messages were forwarded by wire and through amateur radio relays either to the Red Cross staging area at the Seattle Chapter or directly into Anchorage.

Ten Red Cross volunteer amateur radio operators worked around the clock at Red Cross headquarters delivering local messages received by short wave radio operators in Alaska.

These messages were then relayed to families throughout New England by telephone, telegraph and Red Cross teletype facilities.

Meanwhile, local Red Cross officials have been advised that all military personnel in Alaska have been requested by their command to write to relatives immediately about their welfare and such mail can be expected to reach New England late this week.

Meanwhile in the disaster zone, the Red Cross has been setting up shelters to house those who cannot return to their homes until electric, water, gas and sewer facilities are restored.

Although the earthquake has caused great devastation, much of it has fortunately been confined to shore front and business areas and damage to homes except in several exclusive sections, has not been widespread.

The Red Cross has air rushed medical supplies, water purification kits and family comfort items into the area.

More than 50 experienced Red Cross disaster staff members are augmenting staffs and volunteers from 8 Alaskan chapters in the relief program.

Eleven other national staff members were sent to Crescent City, California, where 150 families were affected by a tidal wave which destroyed 150 dwellings and damaged a similar number.

In Anchorage, the Red Cross has distributed more than 50,000 disaster welfare post cards and has urged residents to fill them out for forwarding by mail to close friends and relatives.

Although it may be several days or even weeks before full communication facilities are restored, the Red Cross was advising local families not concerned about service personnel, or with priority messages, to write directly to persons in Alaska by air mail.

The Red Cross emphasized that it was not collecting used clothing, furniture or equipment because of the time and cost involved in shipping items to disaster zones.

Ray A. Ely, chairman of the Metropolitan Red Cross said that the organization would carry out its full emergency relief and rehabilitation program for earthquake victims.

Anyone wishing to make a contribution restricted solely to the relief of earthquake victims may do so by making checks payable to: The American Red Cross-Alaskan Disaster' and forward them to their local chapter or to 17 Gloucester street, Boston, Massachusetts 02115.

New Girl Scout Office Has Open House Sunday

Girl Scouts of the Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council will celebrate the opening of their new offices in the shadow of Echo Bridge at 381 Elliot street, Newton Upper Falls, by inviting families and friends of Girl Scouting to an "Open House" on Sunday afternoon (April 5).

The office, a converted mill on the bank of the Charles River, has a fascinating and historic background which includes an Indian Chief: snuff, and the legend of the "Baby Ghost."

The ghost story started when superstitious old-timers in Newton Upper Falls used to stand on the riverbank to watch the ghost of a baby girl rise from the mists of the falls and run across the water crying piteously.

The site of the new Scout Office was originally the home of Indian Chief Nahaton of the Ponkapoag tribe. On the "Great Rock" Midstream near Elliot Bridge, the Indians used to dry fish.

In Pre-Revolutionary days, the mill was the site of four snuff manufacturers. By 1886 the New England Spun Silk Mills had taken over the buildings to produce various materials.

The crowning touch to the picturesque village is Echo Bridge. The granite and brick structure was built in 1876 as part of the aqueduct system to carry the waters of the Sudbury River underground to Boston.

After joining together in one Council a year ago, Girl Scouts in 25 communities are now being served by the Bay Path Colonial Council. The communities served by the Council are Acton, Ashland, Bedford, Belmont, Boxboro, Carlisle, Concord, Framingham, Holliston, Hopkinton, Hudson, Lexington, Lincoln, Maynard, Marlboro, Medway, Natick, Newton, Southboro, Stow, Sudbury, Waltham, Watertown, Wayland and Weston.

The modern offices are the brain-child of James T. Godino of Newton. A business man and philanthropist, Mr. Godino's creativity enabled him to convert the 18th century mills into 20th century offices.

Mrs. Nathan Bugbee of West Newton is chairman of the Open House. Participating groups include the Concord Community Chest, United Fund of Framingham, Inc., and United Fund of Greater Boston.

Indianapolis — The population of Indiana is said to be increasing about 60,000 persons each year.

Party Big Guns In State Senate War

A special election which all Massachusetts will be watching will be held next Tuesday to choose a successor to the late Senator Michael J. Galvin of Newton.

Wards 1, 6 and 7 of Newton are included in the senatorial district in which the special election will be held.

Polling places in those three wards will be open from 7 a.m to 8 p.m. next Tuesday.

The senatorial district also takes in the entire town of Brookline and the Ward 22 section of Brighton and Allston.

Opposing contenders nominated in last month's primary are Democratic Representative Beryl W. Cohen and Republican Representative Freyda P. Koplow, both of Brookline.

Both Cohen and Mrs. Koplow, backed by the top figures in their respective political parties, were campaigning at top speed as they came down the closing stretch of their race to next Tuesday.

For each side the big problem was to persuade the voters to take the time and trouble to go to the polls to mark their ballots next Tuesday.

Senator Edward M. Kennedy gave a tremendous lift to Representative Beryl W. Cohen as he intervened in the senatorial contest in Cohen's behalf.

Ted Kennedy declared that Cohen is the kind of legislator who will fight to promote the principles and philosophies of his late, great brother, President John F. Kennedy.

PROF. COOPERSTEIN

Cooperstein To Be Feted By Students

Professor Louis Cooperstein of 44 Whitney Road, Newtonville, will be honored by students and alumni at a dinner at 7 p.m. Wednesday, April 22, in Valle's Steak House, Newton, for 25 years service to Northeastern University as a modern language instructor.

He ws graduated magna cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa, from Harvard University in 1933 and received a master of arts degree from the same institution in 1934.

Proffessor Cooperstein also has taught at the Mary Curley School, Boston, and Boston University.

He has been active in faculty affairs at N.U. serving as adviser to the Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity and the advisory committee on faculty policies, and also in activities of the New England and American Modern Language Associations.

He has also served as chairman and vice chairman of the Adult Jewish Education Committee of Temple Emanuel, Newton.

Melvin Norris of 4 Cotton Street, Newton, is in charge of alumni and friends' reservations while his brother, Michael Norris of 180 Bonad Road, Brookline, an N.U. student, is in charge of student reservations for the event.

Other top Democratic leaders who have taken to the stump for Cohen or who have appeared with him at house parties and meetings include Speaker John W. McCormack of the national House of Representatives, Governor Endicott Peabody, Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti and Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr.

The Republicans don't have a political drawing card to match Ted Kennedy, but a number of Newton leaders, including Mayor Donald L. Gibbs and ex-Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., have rallied behind Mrs. Koplow.

Representative Koplow is serving her fifth term and 10th year in the House of Representatives and is the assistant Republican floor leader in that body, the only woman ever to hold that position.

Representative Cohen, 29 years old and an attorney, is completing his second term and fourth year in the House. A graduate of Boston College and B.C. Law School, he recently was selected as one of the 10 outstanding young men in Greater Boston.

At stake in next Tuesday's special election will be not only a seat in the State Senate which both parties are anxious to claim but also a substantial measure of political prestige and the psychological advantage which will go to the party whose candidate emerges the winner when the ballots are counted.

Students of politics will be

Over 100 delegates and guests heard how the Newton Community Council has operated in helping with four specified problems areas within the city at the annual dinner meeting held recently at the Newton Community Center. Mrs. Irene K. Thresher, president of the Newton Community Chest and Newton Community Council, presided.

The program titled, "That Was the Work That Was," included Professor Albert R. Beisel, Jr., past president Newton Community Council, who presented the basic purpose and function of the Council. Panel moderator, Mrs. Thresher introduced each topic.

The second panel member was Lester G. Houston, former director, Newton Family Relocation Service, who described his work in helping displaced families whose homes were taken by the Mass. Turnpike Authority.

Kenneth Huberman, president of Action for Mental Health in Children, described the current work of his group in its efforts to organize a child guidance clinic in Newton in partnership with the Mass. Dept. of Mental Health.

Bible Studied Here For Culture Source

Studying the Bible in the public school, not as a religious book, but as a source book in the humanities was the main topic of discussion last Thursday evening, April 2, at the meeting of the Newton PTA Council held at the Division of Instruction and presided over by Henry Shor.

Thayer Warshaw, an English teacher at Newton High School, offers students in his regular course a unique eight weeks of Bible study, based both on culture and on every day life.

In every day life, Biblical references pop up in political cartoons, textbooks, newspapers, radio, folk songs and folk opera. Mr. Warshaw illustrated this with many current references to Balchazzar's "handwriting on the wall," an ominous warning of things to come, and with the David and Goliath story, of a little man doing big things.

In our culture, literature and drama abound in Biblical themes and Biblical references too numerous to mention. Mr. Warshaw pointed out that in architecture, churches are often built in the form of a cross, and in an American Atlas, Biblical names run the gamut from Abraham, Utah to Zionsville, North Carolina.

Mr. Warshaw's delivery continually challenges the student to reach for depth of understanding. "See what you miss if you don't know the Bible," is his favorite phrase.

The Council of PTA's voted to discontinue the skating program. Mrs. Harold Rosenberg stated that although the buses to the Boston Skating Club had been popular with the children, her committee had been unable to operate them without a deficit. The money remaining in the Skating fund was voted into the General Fund.

Mitchell Simon spoke briefly on the Newton High School Scholarship fund. "There are over 30 organizations giving scholarships in Newton," he stated. It is our plan to ask all 30 to turn over only their power of selection to the two high school principals.

The money from Weeks,

Initial steps were taken at Monday night's meeting of the Board of Aldermen toward the construction of a $382,000 indoor-outdoor swimming pool at Newton South High School and a $263,000 outdoor swimming pool at the Albermarle Playground in Newtonville.

These will be the first two pools built under a four-year, $1,330,000 program proposed by Mayor Donald L. Gibbs for providing new swimming facilities in the city.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Ted Kennedy Big Factor In Special Senate Fight

An extremely interesting battle for the State Senate seat left vacant by the death of the late Senator Michael J. Galvin will be settled next Tuesday in the Newton-Brookline-Brighton senatorial district.

Opposing contenders are Democratic Representative Beryl W. Cohen and Republican Representative Freyda P. Koplow, both of Brookline.

But Cohen and Mrs. Koplow, are overshadowed by some of the political giants who have moved into their fight.

Of all the political luminaries who have joined in the contest which now is commanding state-wide attention, the most distinguished is U. S. Senator Edward M. Kennedy, than whom there is no more potent vote-puller in Massachusetts or New England.

Ted Kennedy is going all out to try to help bring Cohen in a winner. He may prove a tremendously important factor in the election.

Traffic Recommendations Get Official Green Light

The Aldermanic committee on Street Traffic made a good start last Monday night toward clearing the docket of more than a score of items having to do with traffic control, parking regulations and the like.

Some 22 recommendations that were on the docket over a period of many weeks were given the committee's approval by a vote of 4 to 1.

Among them were the long-pending and controversial state department of public works rules and regulations on jay walking, without acceptance of which the city cannot install "walk" and "don't walk" illuminated signs at busy crossings.

However, approval by the Street Traffic Committee does not mean the members' recommendations will come before the full board for action at an early date. All the items automatically are referred to the committee on Claims and Rules, and that body could fail to agree with some of the Street Traffic committee's recommendations.

Following are some of the recommendations given approval Monday night by the Street Traffic committee:

Blinking red and yellow lights at Franklin St. and Waverly Ave., to cost $1,000.

Making Wesley St., Newton, one way.

No parking during school hours on both sides of Parkview Ave., Newtonville, from Cabot St. to Norwood Ave.

Installation of parking meters on the south side of Union St., Newton Centre, at Herrick Rd.; to Langley Rd. The area's small businessmen had recommended 12 meters.

No parking on the south side of Homer St. from Cummings Rd. to the Boston Edison station, and on both sides of Cummings Rd. from Homer St. 200 ft. southerly.

Study of traffic problems in the Ward St.-Temple Emanuel area.

No parking on Alvernia Rd., Ward 6, 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. or 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Stop sign at Walnut and Dedham Sts.

A recommendation of the police chief for stop signs at Churchill St. and Broadway, Newtonville.

Approval of the Bruce Campbell study that requires chanelization of Commonwealth Ave. at the site of the new fire station where Washington St. intersects.

Advice On Wild Flower Gardens

Mrs. Earl H. Bourne, an outstanding expert, will tell how to plan and start wild flower gardens at the meeting of the Newton Centre Garden Club Tuesday morning, April 14, at 10 o'clock at the Newton Centre Woman's Club.

Coffee will be served by Mrs. Leigh Liggett and her co-chairman, Mrs. Harris Mosser. Mrs. Leon B. Farley will pour. Mrs. Benjamin Fawcett will conduct a business session prior to the program.

As a follow-up, a field trip will be made to Mrs. Bourne's own garden in Foxboro on May 14, or on May 15 in the event of rain.

Pools

When plans for the two swimming pools have been completed, the Mayor will submit a recommendation to the Board of Aldermen that a bond issue be floated to finance their construction.

The Mayor's timetable calls for the erection of a $350,000 swimming pool next year at Newton High School.

The Aldermen appropriated the planning funds for the Albemarle Playground pool by a 19-1 vote and for the Newton South High School pool by an 18-2 vote.

The 18 Aldermen who voted in favor of the planning funds for both pools were Winslow C. Auryansen, Adelaide B. Ball, William L. Bruce, Paul J. Burke, William Carmen, Melvin J. Dangel, Ernest F. Dietz, Franklin N. Flaschner, Harry H. Ham, George L. Hicks, John F. Holden, Andrew J. Magni, Theodore D. Mann, John P. Nixon, Jack M. Roberts, Warren A. Sutherland, Harry L. Walen and President Wendell R. Bauckman.

Alderman William M. Glovsky voted against both planning appropriations, explaining that he did so because no comprehensive capital improvement plan had been presented to the Board.

Alderman William E. Hopkins voted in favor of providing funds to plan the Albemarle Playground swimming pool but against the planning allowance for the Newton South High pool.

Letters from School Superintendent Charles E. Brown and Director of Physical Education Frank M. Simmons stating that the proposed pool at Newton South High would be used by students of both high schools, with priority given to non-swimmers who would receive special instruction, were read to members of the Aldermanic Board by Alderman Dangel, chairman of the Aldermanic public buildings committee.

for instance, would still go to a student from Weeks, and any other requirements placed upon it would be honored. It was felt that the principals were in a more knowledgeable and fairer position to select than local groups of citizens.

Daniel Gordon, Recreational Commission chairman, noted that many of Newton's fine recreational areas were seldom used. When activities were organized however, boys and girls flocked to the spot. Some of the recommendations of the Mayor's study group on summer facilities which hopefully money will be appropriated for, are: improveing the beach and bathhouse at Crystal Lake; the construction of two indoor-outdoor pools, one at each High School; and a pool at Albermarle playground. Mr. Gordon stated, that Recreation Commissioner Penny was most happy to meet with any informed community group with recreation inmprovement ideas.

Mrs. Edward Kovar, program committee chairman, reported that a file of successful PTA program ideas was to be placed in the PTA Council office. Any interested PTA program chairman was welcome to come to the Division of Instruction and go through it.

Henry Myerson, safety committee chairman, reported that Safety Officer Feeley and others were concerned about teachers inviting children back to school Tuesday afternoons when there was no police protection available. He said that legally teachers were responsible for the safety of the children at that time and their crossing both ways.

Library Week Is Important

The launching of the observance of National Library Week in Newton on Saturday is an important event.

Marking its seventh national celebration, Newton Librarian A. William Kunkel announces city-wide window displays and special features to be held at the various library stations.

Story hours for children will help create an interest in books in the small fry. This is a vital and worth while aspect of the annual "Week." The allure of television must not be allowed to destroy a love of books and of reading in the growing generation. Our libraries continue to seek to maintain an interest for youngsters and to be their havens of added knowledge, the repositories of the world's wit, wisdom and information.

The power of the printed word still is unchallenged in our time. It was the original bridge over which mankind marched to improve his way of life, enhance his status as a human being and eventually arrive at a better awareness and apprecition of the life he was living.

A love of good books and reading should be cultivated in our young people. National Library Week aids in this project. Libraries are not the dusty archives of accumulated boredom; they are living, vibrant fountains of mental youth.

They are here to refresh us, entertain and instruct us, both mentally and physically. Surely, there are so many avenues of enjoyment provided in our lives that we should seek them out and embrace them. Good books are unique in this area.

Spaghetti Saves Sight

The forthcoming Spaghetti Festival, sponsored by the Newton Lions Club, will dedicate an estimable gastronomic exercise to the worthy cause of eye research.

Lions Clubs everywhere long have been dedicated to eye research and the never-ending fight against blindness. This is the major charitable project of the world-wide organization.

The cause of charity is served in a variety of ways. In Newton, the campaign for eye research will be aided by the eating of miles and miles of succulent spaghetti. However, in the service of better eye-sight, the waistline may suffer to the point of a bulge here and there.

Those who contribute to the fight against blindness by devouring their share, or more, of the spaghetti, will wear their expanded belts with pride and distinction.

For many, many years, members of the Lions have been a source of assistance and comfort to their sightless fellowmen. They have contributed many hours and have raised large amounts of money to assist in the task of eye research, a vital service to Americans today.

In the constant fight against the source of blindness, Lions Clubs have sponsored glaucoma clinics where the early inroads of the stealthy thief of sight often is detected, in time for medical attention and possible blindness prevented.

Yes, the fun and festivity of a Spaghetti Festival, as sponsored by the Newton Lions, may prolong the joys of sight in many humans who otherwise might be destined for years of darkness.

White Lines Help At Night

Newton motorists who are obliged to cruise expanded Route 128 after dark, especially in damp and drizzly weather, wonder what has happened to the guy with the white road-stripe paint.

These necessary highway adornments are sorely missed in high-speed after-dark traffic on the lightless road. The salt coating and scum of winter have practically eradicated the while lines along much of the four-lane highway.

This fact is plainly evident at night as many cars meander back and forth across the width of the road. Without the lines there is no distinct path to follow, and while most drivers still try to adhere to some indication of a four-lane formation, many lads, and lassies, care little and ride anywhere between the sideline boundaries of the road.

Lack of the luminous painted lines adds little to safe progress along the highway in the night hours.

For this reason, it would be a genuine service to the motorist if the fellows with the pails and brushes could get out there and sort of dress up the highway.

LETTERS

Editorial Praised

Editor of The Graphic:

As Registrar, I wish to thank you for your editorial of March 26 in which you explained to your readers the beneficial results that can be expected from the expansion of the semi-annual automobile inspection which will take place in the Fall.

From a safety viewpoint, the addition of tires to the inspection at that time should, we are quite certain, have a very beneficial effect on highway safety in our state.

In closing, let me once again bring to the attention of your readers the first paragraph of your editorial — a paragraph that I thoroughly agree with:

"If for no other reason than their own safety, our Bay State motorist must have experienced a certain satisfaction with the recently announced extended schedule of automobile inspection due for this Commonwealth come the fall."

With kindest regards, I am

Very truly yours,
JAMES R. LAWTON
Registrar

Political Highlights

If Representatives Koplow and Cohen were fighting strictly on their own, Mrs. Koplow probably would be a slight favorite even though Cohen has been able to marshall a small army of energetic college and law school students who are out beating the drums in his behalf.

But Ted Kennedy changes the political picture, and nobody can change a political picture like Ted.

Democratic and Republican leaders and the supporters of the two candidates are putting on an intensive campaign to get out as big a vote as possible in Wards 1, 6 and 7 of Newton, the town of Brookline and the Ward 22 section of Allston and Brighton.

However, Brighton probably will hold the key to this special election. It is there that Ted Kennedy hopes to make political hay for Representative Cohen.

Mrs. Koplow figures to top Cohen in their home town of Brookline and in the section of Newton which is included in the senatorial district.

Then it comes down to a question whether Ted Kennedy, with his great pulling power, can get out a big Democratic vote in Brighton in a special election of this kind.

If he does, Cohen probably will emerge the winner when the returns are counted next Tuesday night.

If he doesn't, Mrs. Koplow is likely to take over the seat which has been vacant since Galvin's death.

It isn't easy to pull out a large vote in a special election, but Ted Kennedy is doing a lot more than going through the motions.

He has been in the district to speak for Cohen. He has thrown the Democratic State organization behind Cohen, and he has Democratic State Committee Chairman Gerard Doherty devoting most of his time to Cohen's cause.

Leaders in both parties know that the election returns next Tuesday night will be regarded by many analysts as a straw in the political winds. They aren't planning on losing if they can help it.

Governor Peabody, Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and other Democratic bigwigs are aiding Cohen in his bid for promotion to the State Senate.

But it is Ted Kennedy who gives Cohen the edge over Mrs. Koplow in the battle now nearing a finish.

Kaethe Kollwitz Art Exhibition At The Gallery

An exhibition of the works of Kaethe Kollwitz are being shown at The Gallery, 39 Grove Street, Wellesley now through Saturday, April 25. The Gallery will be open daily except Sunday from 9 to 5:30 p.m. The show will consist of 61 graphics by the noted German artist and also three original charcoal drawings. Nearly all of the works are signed.

The exhibition also will include 31 restrikes — original graphics made from lithograph stones and copper plates of Kaethe Kollwitz after her death. The signed graphics are mostly etchings, lithographs, and woodcuts.

As a woman and an artist, Kaethe Kollwitz depicted with maternal sympathy and compelling mastery, the tragedy and sufferings of the common people in Germany during the period from 1890 to 1942.

Month-Long Art Exhibit Opens At Church Monday

"Forms of Truth," a month-long exhibit of contemporary paintings, sculpture, and crafts by some of New England's leading artists, is being planned by members of the Auburndale Congregational Church.

The exhibit, sponsored by the church's Adult Education Committee, will be open to the public daily from Monday, April 13, through Sunday, May 10, and will include works by approximately 75 artists.

Also during the month, several guest speakers will discuss the relationship of art to the layman and the Gospel.

First speaker will be Bartlett Hayes, curator of the Addison Gallery in Andover, who will discuss "The Layman Speaks to the Artist," Thursday, April 16, at the church.

Frederick Walkey, director of the DeCordova Museum in Lincoln, will discuss "The Artist and the Museum Speak to the Layman" Thursday, April 23.

Final speaker for the series will be Rev. Tom Leamon, minister of the Congregational Church in Danielson, Conn., whose topic will be "Contemporary Art and the Gospel." He will speak Thursday, April 30.

All three lectures will begin at 8 p.m. in the assembly room of the church's parish hall, Hancock street and Woodland road, Auburndale.

Chairman of the committee planning the exhibit is Mrs. Ralph Keyes, 340 Wolcott street, Auburndale.

Mrs. Keyes explained that the theme and title for the exhibit —"Forms of Truth" —were inspired by the late President John F. Kennedy's speech at the ground-breaking ceremonies for the Robert Frost Library in Amherst last fall.

Members of the Auburndale Congregational Church will serve as hosts and hostesses at the exhibit, which will be open daily in the parish hall from 1 to 4:30 and 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., free of charge. Groups may arrange tours by phoning the church office, LA 7-4636.

Matthew Text To Be Science Church Subject

"The kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received, freely give." These words from Matthew (ch. 10) will be used as the Golden Text at Christian Science churches next Sunday.

The question, "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" will be explored in passages from the Bible and the Christian Science textbook, including this statement: "God is not the author of mortal discords. Therefore we accept the conclusion that discords have only a fabulous existence, are mortal beliefs which divine Truth and Love destroy" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 231).

Rep. Koplow Cites Record In Drive For Senate Seat

Representative Freyda P. Koplow of Brookline reviewed her record of public service and accomplishments today as she asked support of her candidacy for the State Senate in next Tuesday's special election.

Mrs. Koplow, a member of the House of Representatives for the past 10 years, is seeking the place in the Senate left vacant by the death of the late Senator Michael J. Galvin.

Wards 1, 6 and 7 of Newton are included in the senatorial district where the election will be held.

Mrs. Koplow directed a strong appeal to the voters in those three wards to turn out for next Tuesday's election and to mark their ballots for the candidate they believe best equipped to serve them in the State Senate.

She said next Tuesday's election is an important one and that every eligible citizen should fulfill his or her responsibility to participate in it.

One of the most respected legislators on Beacon Hill, Mrs. Koplow is the assistant Republican floor leader and is the only woman ever to serve in that capacity.

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs and ex-Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., both issued statements warmly praising the calibre of service Mrs. Koplow has performed in the House of Representatives and declaring that she has demonstrated she has the ability, the experience and the training to make an excellent State Senator.

Mrs. Koplow is widely known as one of the pioneers in the field of metropolitan planning. She worked closely with the Boston College Seminar, the League of Women Voters and the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce in seeking the passage of this legislation.

She was chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Regis College Seminar on metropolitan planning and saw her work brought to fruition last year with the passage of her bill and the establishment of the State's Metropolitan Planning Council.

watching to see whether the special election results indicate that there has been any change in the political tide.

The late Senator Galvin was a Democrat. He gained his seat by defeating Republican ex-Senator Joseph Silvano in the 1962 election.

If Mrs. Koplow can win back the seat for the GOP, Republican leaders will hail her feat as a harbinger of things to come next fall.

That the Democratic leaders are anxious to hold the seat is evident from the array of prominent figures headed by Senator Kennedy who have moved into the battle behind Representative Cohen.

While they were offering conflicting arguments, Representatives Koplow and Cohen did make one common appeal to the residents of Wards 1, 6 and 7. That was that every eligible voter in those three wards should go to the polls and cast his or her ballot next Tuesday.

Polling places in Wards 1, 6 and 7 next Tuesday will be at the following locations:

Ward 1, Precinct 1, Stearns School, 265 Watertown St; Precinct 2, Fire Station, 232 Washington St; Precinct 3, Cabot School, 229 Cabot St; Precinct 4, Hawthorne Playground, 11 Hawthorne St., and Precinct 5, Cabot School.

Ward 6, Precinct 1, Mason-Rice School, 149 Pleasant St; Precinct 2, Weeks Junior High School, 7 Hereward Rd; Precinct 3, Church of Redeemer, 365 Hammond St; Precinct 4, Mason-Rice School, and Precinct 5, Bowen School, 280 Cypress St.

Cohen Senate Fight Gets Kennedy Assist

Senator Edward M. Kennedy this week vigorously championed the cause of Representative Beryl W. Cohen who is seeking a seat in the State Senate in a special election to be held next Tuesday.

Wards 1, 6 and 7 of Newton are included in the senatorial district which on Tuesday will elect a successor to the late Senator Michael J. Galvin of Newton.

In endorsing Cohen and supporting his candidacy, Ted Kennedy praised him as a legislator "who will continue to further the ideals and implement the programs of the New Frontier."

"It was in this Greater Boston area where my brother, the late President, began his career," Kennedy asserted. "It was here that the concept of the New Frontier was started.

"I urge you to support Representative Beryl W. Cohen for the State Senate so that he may help to continue the programs of the New Frontier," Senator Kennedy stated.

Speaker John W. McCormack of the national House of Representatives joined with Senator Kennedy in asking Democratic and Independent voters in Wards 1, 6 and 7 to take the time to go to the polls next Tuesday.

McCormack referred to Cohen as a "People's Representative" and predicted that after next Tuesday he will be "a People's Senator."

"You have served the people of your representative district with outstanding ability and great courage," Speaker McCormack told Cohen at a rally held in the latter's behalf. "The character of service you have rendered richly deserves the confidence of the people of the senatorial district."

Representative Cohen, making a strong campaign for public support in next Tuesday's election, spoke at more than 30 house parties and coffee hours held in his behalf in Newton, Brookline and Brighton.

Democratic leaders, in addition to Senator Kennedy, who appeared with Cohen at various affairs held in his behalf included Governor Peabody, Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti, State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr.

Cohen also continued to campaign at shopping centers and bus stops, talking personally with voters and asking support of his candidacy.

In reviewing his public record, Cohen said that as a member of the House of Representatives he was instrumental in obtaining the passage of a number of new laws. He has been especially active in seeking reforms of the structure of State government.

Cohen cited that he sponsored and led the fight in the House for the introduction of a Family Court System in the Probate Court in an attempt to find a solution to the increasing divorce rate in the Commonwealth.

He was individually responsible for the repeal of 15 archaic statutes and pointed to this as demonstrating the need for recodification of our criminal laws.

Representative Cohen initiated an expanded Massachusetts observance of United Nations Day through a plan by which 5000 foreign students from all sections of the Commonwealth are invited to the State House for an introduction to State government.

Through the adoption of a bill he filed Cohen was able to correct an inequity in the mental health laws and make possible the transfer of elderly inmates from the Bridgewater State Hospital, a maximum security prison, to State mental hospitals.

Cohen took an active part in the battle for the enactment of the Sabbatarian Blue Laws bill.

An attorney who is now serving his second term on Beacon Hill, Cohen is a graduate of Boston College and the B.C. Law School.

He is a member of the Boston and Massachusetts Bar Associations and has been admitted to practice before the State Federal Bars. He is a member of the Trial Lawyers Association and the Temple Beth Zion and Brotherhood.

His wife is the former Barbara Lebowich of Newton. They havea 22 months old son.

Expert Trio, In Hyde School PTA Panel Discussion

Three prominent educators will discuss teacher selection and Newton's stand on teacher education at a meeting of Hyde School PTA on Tuesday evening, Apr. 14, at 8 o'clock.

Those are topics that have received national attention, and which are of vital concern to parents.

The speakers are to be Dr. Harry V. Anderson, director of undergraduate studies and associate professor of education at Boston University; Dr. Rita Emlaw, director of the Harvard - Newton Summer School, and Allen Acomb, assistant director for personnel of the Newton schools.

Prior to joining the staff of B.U., Dr. Anderson taught in the Newton school system for seven years, and was principal of the Claflin School from 1953 to 1958. Dr. Emlaw is principal of the Angier School. Mr. Acomb has been associated with the Newtoh school system since 1934 as a teacher and principal of the Underwood School, and now acts as an assistant superintendent of schools.

All three are actively concerned with achieving the highest possible standards of education in the Newton schools, and have done considerable study of the problems in attaining these goals.

Prior to the panel program, an open house will be held from 7:15 to 7:45, which will provide an opportunity for the parents to visit the classrooms. There will then be a short business meeting in the auditorium, followed by the main part of the program and a discussion period, during which questions from the floor will be welcomed.

The meeting has been planned by the Program Committee under the chairmanship of Walter G. Robinson Jr. Assisting him were the following committee members: Mrs. Paul Dinkel, Mrs. Robert Perlman, Mrs. Alexandra Katz, Benjamin Wollins, Joshua Guberman, and David Whiting, acting principal.

Rep. Koplow Is Asked To Join LBJ Conference

State Rep. Freyda P. Koplow (R) of Brookline, who led the successful fight to require seat belts in new cars, has been invited to take part in President Lyndon Johnson's National Conference on Traffic Safety, to be held in New York April 14-15.

Mrs. Koplow was told in a phone call from Washington that the President is calling upon experienced members of government to help achieve improved traffic safety and control.

The Brookline legislator regarded as an authority on safety and metropolitan planning, is the Republican candidate for the State Senate from the Norfolk-Suffolk District which comprises all of Brookline, Newton Wards 1, 6, and 7, and Brighton Ward 22. The special election to fill a vacancy will be held April 14, the same day as the opening session of the safety conference in New York.

Mrs. Koplow notified Washington she couldn't attend on April 14 because she "expects to be celebrating a victory" with her campaign workers, but will fly to New York the following morning to attend the session as a "member of the State Senate."

Rep. Koplow smilingly reported that the person who telephoned from Washington on behalf of the President earnestly wished her good luck in the April 14 election.

"I don't know whether or not the Administration knows I am a Republican," Mrs. Koplow said, "but I certainly appreciate the good wishes."

A vigorous proponent of highway safety legislation during her 10 years in the House, Mrs. Koplow led the seat-belt bill to victory last fall. The law requires seat belts as mandatory equipment on new cars sold in Massachusetts after next January 1.

Mr. Fray's topic was "Turn Toward Peace."

Mrs. Malcolm Jackson invited the members to view the exhibit of china at Jackson Homestead.

Mrs. Allen R. Barrow expressed gratitude for the great amount of material given for use on playgrounds.

Mosher's Wins Top Retailers' Award In N.Y.

Mosher's of Newton Centre has been awarded a "Certificate of Distinction" by the Brand Names' Foundation's Retailer of the Year Awards Competition.

Following three days of intensive evaluation of the presentations of 243 finalists from all over the country, the judges' decision was based on the overall dedication to the finest principles of retailing.

Mr. Clifford Mosher accepted the award at the luncheon held in the Americana Hotel in New York City. Among the honors bestowed upon the local men's furnishing shop and Mr. Mosher was a personal letter of congratulations from Walter B. D. Hickey, president of the Hickey-Freeman Co. Mr. Hickey wrote in part, "We are exclusive 'Partners in Quality' with Mosher's in the Brookline - Newton - Wellesley area. Our renowned standards of clothes elegance and hand-tailored perfection — plus Mr. Mosher's great care and extensive experience as a fitter of men's traditional clothes, has gained for them a reputation that they wear like a badge of honor."

Don't ever go away again, daddy!

Her Dad is one of the sensible ones. He went to his doctor as soon as he noticed a cancer danger signal. Thanks to his prompt action, his cancer was discovered when it was still in its early stages, and the prospects for cure are more favorable.

Do you know Cancer's Seven Danger Signals? 1. Unusual bleeding or discharge. 2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere. 3. A sore that does not heal. 4. Change in bowel or bladder habits. 5. Hoarseness or cough. 6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing. 7. Change in a wart or mole. If you notice one of these signals and it lasts more than two weeks, see your doctor. It may not be cancer, but only a doctor can tell.

Play it safe and see your doctor once a year for a health checkup, too. And help research and education save lives by sending a check to your local A.C.S. Unit.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Collins Rejects Overtures That He Seek Governorship

The man who probably would have a better chance than anyone else of winning election as Governor next November isn't interested in running for the office this year.

He is Boston Mayor John F. Collins who appears to be even stronger outside his home city than he is in it.

Most political analysts are convinced that Collins could defeat Governor Peabody in the September primary and then go on to win the November election in decisive fashion.

A number of Democratic leaders have tried to sell Collins the idea of doing exactly that, but Collins isn't buying the proposal.

For one thing Collins feels he should serve as Mayor of Boston through 1966 and more nearly finish the job he has started. For another a two-year term as Governor has little appeal for him.

The Governor elected in 1966 will be chosen for a four-year term if the voters approve a change in the State Constitution as it is expected they will. So Collins will wait until then.

It's possible, of course, that Collins will find Robert F. Kennedy bidding for the Governorship in 1966. In such an event the Boston Mayor might set his sights on the seat in the U. S. Senate now held by Leverett Saltonstall.

In fact, Collins might prefer to run for the Senate if he were to make a choice between it and a four-year term as Governor.

The attempt to persuade Collins to stand for the Governorship had some unusual aspects and pointed up changing political conditions.

There was a time when it was believed a political party would be courting election-day disaster if it were to reject and repudiate a sitting Governor in a primary.

That theory is no longer widely held as far as the Democratic party is concerned, presumably because Massachusetts has grown so heavily Democratic in the last 15 years.

Those Democratic chieftains who had hoped Collins might speed up his political timetable and strike out for the Governorship this year instead of waiting until 1966 were motivated by the conviction that Peabody's political stock has dropped pretty low.

That belief is supported by the results of a survey conducted recently to determine Peabody's popularity with the voters.

This doesn't mean, however, that Peabody is necessarily facing defeat in either the primary or the election. He should have some factors working in his favor in both contests.

GOP Is Facing Do-or-Die Year

This could be a do-or-die year for the Republican party in Massachusetts.

Unless the GOP makes significan gains in this year's election, it is likely to begin to crumble.

Some thoughtful students of politics believe Massachusetts is on its way to becoming a one-party state.

They think the time may not be far away when contests for Governor, U. S. Senator and other state-wide offices will be settled in the Democratic primaries, with the Republicans maintaining a minority voice in the two branches of the Legislature.

Only under unusual circumstances, they predict, will a Republican be elected Governor, U.S. Senator or Attorney General, or will Massachusetts be carried by a GOP candidate for President.

That forecast may prove an accurate one in the years immediately ahead if the Republicans fail this year to capitalize on the opportunities circum stances have provided for them.

What story the coming election will tell for the GOP remains to be seen.

Right now, however, the Republican party appears to be in a state of disorganization and near despair.

A three-cornered battle is being waged between ex-Governor John A. Volpe, ex-Representative Francis W. Perry and State Senator Philip A. Graham for the right to run as the GOP nominee for Governor.

Yet, when someone like Perry delivers an aggressive, hard-hitting speech, a lot of Republicans wring their hands and moan that candidates in a contest within their own party shouldn't fight among themselves and kill each other off.

How should a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor campaign?

Should he put the issues on the line for the consideration of the delegates and the voters? Or should he leave them for the Democrats to bring out later?

Should he tip-toe around the issues like so many fragile shells with the speak-no-evil, hear-no-evil, see-no-evil political approach made famous by Earl Warren when he was the Republican Vice Presidential nominee?

The Democrats do everything except hit each other over the heads with axes in primary fight. Then the victors go on to win elections.

But if a Republican raises an issue about another Republican, the impression is created that the resulting bruised feelings may prove politically fatal.

Actually, a good fight might prove a healthy thing for the Republican party. At least it couldn't make things much worse in the GOP.

The coming election will be a critical one for the Republicans.

With Senator Edward M. Kennedy at the head of the Democratic State ticket, the battle they face will not be an easy one.

They have no hope of defeating Kennedy, but as matters shape up today, they do have at least a chance of capturing the Governorship.

If they fail to do so, the Republican party will be in a shambles after the November election.

Thompson Sees Defeat Of Solons' Pay Raise

A $2600-a-year pay raise, which the members of the State Legislature voted themselves last year will be killed if a referendum on it is listed on the ballot next November.

That is the prediction of House Speaker John F. Thompson who qualifies as something of an expert on the matter.

"It'll get murdered," was Thompson's blunt response when he was asked what he thought would happen to the wage hike if it goes to the people for a vote.

"The people just don't want to give anyone a raise," observed Thompson who added that if this philosophy were followed, only wealthy persons could afford to serve in the State government.

Thompson probably is right on all counts.

The average voter is far from generous in his conception of what should be paid to the legislator who represents him on Beacon Hill.

Yet, comparatively few persons could afford to serve in the Legislature and do the job expected of them for $5200 a year which was what the lawmakers were getting when they hiked their own pay last year.

What may happen is that the voters will knock out the raise next November and that the legislators will move to put it right back onto the books next January. Whether the Governor in office then will go along with such an idea is something only time will determine.

The hard fact of the matter is that many people are short-sighted on this subject and that a legislator who isn't worth $7800 a year should be defeated for reelection.

COD Backs Only 25 For Dem. Committee

COD, the Democratic splinter organization, apparently has abandoned its plan for trying to gain control of the Democratic State Committee this year.

It has endorsed 25 candidates who will be seeking election to the official Democratic State organization in the April 28 Presidential Primary.

Even if all should be elected, which is highly improbable, COD would have only 25 votes on the 80-member committee.

Strangely, COD endorsed only one present Democratic State Committeeman for reelection. He was Representative Paul C. Menton of Watertown whom Governor Peabody unsuccessfully sought to name as Registrar of Motor Vehicles last year.

"Pepsi-Cola" Launches Free Shopping Spree

An opportunity to share in $1,850,000 prizes was brought to Greater Boston area residents today when Charles L. Copeland, President of the Pepsi Cola Bottling Company of Milton announced participation in the sponsorship of the 1964 Pepsi Cola Shopping Spree promotion.

Highlight of the six-week contest will be the award of the grand national first prize —an entire family will be set loose in the food store of their choi to shop to their heart's content — absolutely free—for one-half hour Additionally the grand national winner will receive a 1964 Mercury station wagon.

In addition to the grand first prize, 120 other national awards could be won by local entrants. They include: 10 1964 Mercury station wagons loaded with a year's supply of automobile equipment and serv : 10 quarter-hour shopping sprees for 10 entire families; 100 gift certificates ranging in value from $1,000 to $100.

According to Mr. Copeland, "The Shopping Spree theme of this nationa' event will be carried through on the local level, too. For our top prizes in the Greater Boston area, we'll be awarding three lucky individuals 15-10-and 5 minute shopping sprees in the food stores of their choice. Naturally, Pepsi Cola Bottling Company of Milton will pick up the "check."

The $1,850,000 1964 Shopping Spree is believed to be one of the largest promotions of its kind in the history of American business. More than 150,000 prizes will be awarded throughout the country, and more than 286 will be given locally by the Pepsi Cola Bottling Company of Milton. The promotion begins April 20 and ends May 30.

In addition to the free local shopping sprees, Mr. Copeland pointed out that his company will award over 40 prizes each week for six weeks. Ranging in value from $25 to free cases of Pepsi Cola, they will be in the form of merchandise certificates, redeemable at local participating outlets.

According to the local Pepsi official, thousands of food outlets, service stations and other retailers will participate.

At the statewide level, one lucky Massachusetts shopper will be awarded a year's supply of Pepsi Cola, Patio and Teem.

According to Mr. Copeland, one entry can qualify for the local, state and national drawings. Official entry blanks will be available at all outlets in this area selling Pepsi C , Patio and Teem.

Entrants simply fill in their name and address, the name and address of the retail outlet from which the entry blank is obtained, then drop the completed form in the store collection box. Or, it was pointed out, the entry can be mailed to:

Pepsi Cola Bottling Company of Milton,
Box 111
Milton, Massachusetts

The local Pepsi Cola official pointed out that there is no limit to the number of entry blanks an individual may submit each week.

An extensive advertising and in-store display campaign is planned by the local Pepsi Cola Bottling Company to publicize the 1964 Snopping Spree in this area.

1434 Margin Wins For Cohen; City Gives Edge To Koplow

Democratic Representative Beryl W. Cohen of Brookline won the seat in the State Senate left vacant by the death of the late Senator Michael J. (Iron Mike) Galvin of Newton.

Cohen defeated Republican Representative Freyda P. Koplow, also of Brookline, by 1434 votes in Tuesday's special election. Cohen polled 10,943 votes to 9509 for Mrs. Koplow in the Newton-Brookline-Brighton senatorial district.

Senator Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy was clearly responsible for turning the political tide for Cohen in his hard fought contest, and this was quickly acknowledged by Cohen who declared forthrightly that he owed his election to Ted.

Mrs. Koplow carried the Newton section of the senatorial district by 269 votes, polling 2670 votes in the three Newton wards as compared to 2401 for Cohen.

Study Layout Of Athletic Plant

Solons View Sports Field Site

Newton's state legislative delegation has made a tour of the proposed site of an elaborate athletic field complex for this area.

Representatives Irving Fishman, Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., and John W. Whittemore made an on-the-spot inspection of the proposed location of a million-dollar recreation center and athletic field on the banks of the Charles River along the Newton-Brighton line.

They toured the area as guests of Commissioner Robert F. Murphy of the Metropolitan District Commission, who explained that the plans call for a $400,000 indoor skating rink, a baseball diamond, a full-size football field, a boat-launching ramp, portable grandstands, parking space for some 150 cars, and Little League facilities.

The sports fields will be illuminated. There will also be a cinder track around the football field and covered tennis courts.

On the site of an Army World War II installation between Nonantum road and the river, the skating rink will be on the Newton side of the Brighton line.

Newton legislators have frequently filed bills for MDC recreational facilities in Newton, and only last year Mayor Donald L. Gibbs and Rep. Fishman filed a bill for a skating rink.

Benjamin W. Fink, director of MDC park engineering, accompanied Commissioner Murphy on the tour of inspection.

Saltonstall Favors Gibbs For Delegate

Senator Leverett Saltonstall his week warmly endorsed Newton Mayor Donald L. Gibbs for election as a delegate to the Republican national convention to be held at San Francisco in July.

At the same time Saltonstall declared his support of the other candidates on the slate with Gibbs. They are Senator John Parker of Taunton who is seeking election as delegate and Mrs. Frances W. Halloweell of Westwood and Mrs. Rosalie Bennett of Plainville, candidates for election as alternates.

The four are seeking election in the Martin congressional district. The delegates will be chosen in the Presidential Primary on April 28.

"I urge all Republicans of the 10th congressional district to work and vote for Mayor Gibbs, Senator Parker and their slate," Saltonstall asserted. "As a resident of the district myself, I certainly shall vote for their slate."

"They have stated that they will go to the Republican convention uncommitted unless Ambassador Henry

Redevelopment Plans Get Nod From Mayor

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs declared today that he is moving ahead with plans for Newton's first redevelopment and rehabilitation project.

One of the initial decisions which must be made, the Mayor said, is to select the area in which the pilot project will be undertaken.

The six possibilities are Newton Corner, West Newton, Nonantum, Newton Upper Falls, Newton Lower Falls and Newtonville.

While Newton Corner has been given top priority, it also would be the biggest of the six projects, and it may be decided to start with a smaller development.

Mayor Gibbs told the Graphic that some time next month he will recommend the creation of a Newton Redevelopment Authority to the Board of Aldermen.

As soon as the Authority is established and its members appointed, they presumably will employ a salaried director who will work full time on the program.

When a decision has been made as to which project will be the first one launched, the Authority will prepare an application for survey and plan-

City Profits $70,000 From Reinvestment

The City of Newton has reinvested at 4 percent interest $2,500,000 which cost a little over 3 percent to borrow, Treasurer Archie R. Whitman informed Mayor Donald L. Gibbs last Monday.

The city's profit from the re-investment amounts to $70,000.

Money that constituted the greater part of a public works bond issue was invested in certificates of deposit in four Boston banks.

The treasurer explained that as the bonded account has sufficient funds for expected expenditures at this time, it was possible to invest most of the newly borrowed money.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Brooke To Seek Indictment Of A Prominent GOP Figure

An indictment will be sought late this month or early in May against a prominent figure in the Republican party as a result of an investigation conducted by the State Crime Commission.

If it is returned, it will cause an even greater sensation and arouse a stronger public reaction than did the indictment of suspended State Public Safety Commissioner Frank S. Giles.

It also will have a heavier impact upon the contest for the Republican nomination for Governor than did the indictment of Giles.

Indictments against a substantial number of persons will be sought in the coming weeks by Attorney General Edward W. Brooke on the basis of the data turned over to him by the crime board.

More than 5000 students have participated in Rabbi Gordon's nationwide analysis of intermarriage for this book. He has recorded 17 interviews-in-depth with the intermarried themselves.

"I personally have stated that it is wisest to attend the San Francisco Convention uncommitted because we do not yet know who all the candidates may be from whom we must choose the man we feel is best qualified to be President. If Ambassador Lodge becomes a candidate, he is a man to whom we in Massachusetts should give our every support. The Nation has shown its respect for his ability," said the Senior Bay State Senator.

"Those who are opposing the Gibbs-Parker slate are running on a slate chosen by the leader of the Draft Goldwater movement in the Commonwealth and, therefore, cannot be said to be truly uncommitted. The Gibbs-Parker slate, on the other hand, is clearly uncommitted and is free to work and vote for the man they consider best qualified to be President of the United S t a t e s," Saltonstall concluded.

"Chicago," the 13th volume in the Centers of Civilization series, which appeared Friday, Mar. 27, is the 33rd published book of Edward Wagenknecht of 233 Otis St., West Newton, professor of English at Boston University.

Says the author: "Ravaged by four successive fires, Chicago, with an indomitable spirit, expressed in the motto, 'I Will,' rebuilt to become the Chicago of Carl Sandburg, Eugene Field, Finley Peter Dunne, Frank Norris, Theodore Dreiser, Edgar Lee Masters, and many other distinguished authors."

Black has promised that a member of the Patriots team will be present to meet fans and sign autographs.

Fire Chief Gives Springtime Tips

Chief Frederick A. Perkins Jr. of the Newton Fire Department has issued a timely list of precautions for the attention of all householders who feel the spring-cleaning urge at this time of year.

"When cleaning attics and basements," he says, "be sure to remove all combustible material which is of no further value. Oily rags, paint cloths, etc., should not be allowed to collect in the basement as they are a definite fire hazard."

Garages are a catch-all for all types of debris in the winter months, the chief points out, and the area should be cleaned immediately so it will not tempt children who might play with matches.

"When clearing the yard of leaves, bushes, branches, etc.," he goes on, "do not burn them in the open without first obtaining a permit from the fire station."

His advice concludes with the suggestion that the power mower should be checked for operation defects, and adds that it is necessary to have a permit for storage of gasoline.

2nd Try For Rte 9 Apartments

The Zoning Board of Appeals will hear a petition by the Parish of St. Paul for permission to build five garden-type apartment buildings, each with 10 units, on Tuesday night, Apr. 28, at 7:45 o'clock in City Hall.

The site of the proposed apartments is at 1185-1195 Boylston St., Newton Highlands.

Cars That Bloom In The Spring

Patriot's Day on Sunday, April 19, marks the official opening of the Spring motoring season in the Bay State, although the recent balmy week-end produced a preview of the opening, as it were.

We are warned that the highways will blossom with motor cars bearing our citizens bent on celebrating the historic holiday. Some of the cars, and the citizens as well, may be bent before the day darkens into night.

Together with blooming cars and venturesome spring flora, Monday will bring the annual bursting into activity of a hundred or more athletic gents in numbered jerseys and shorts.

These lads will jog and sprint across the miles from Hopkinton to Boston. They will be trailed by other energetic humans pumping bikes. The usual compliment of autos will be mixed in with the bustling brew. These provide the recipe for unusual traffic conditions.

It is expected that a million watchers will line the route of the famed marathon to gaze upon the passing plodders. They annually give their all for the waiting bowls of stew and a laurel beanie.

Should be an interesting day around the Bay State. Registrar Lawton has asked for courtesy and common-sense driving. This is a simple suggestion for us to follow. But, it's that contrary "other fellow" who seems always to be heedless in the handling of the wheel.

And, with the school vacation in Newton due next week, our local drivers have seven days of cautious chauffeuring confronting them. Give them these happy hours without mishap.

Other Side Of The Coin

There are two sides to every argument, and two faces to every coin.

Constantly in the news we are beset with the sorry tales of the foolishness of youth, its violent and unlawful deeds, its uncontrolled rush along the highway of life. In this manner, an image is created of all youth, untrue though it is.

But, at this time of the year we have the opportunity to view and enjoy the flip side of the coin, as the stories of shining scholastic achievements filter in from our schools and colleges. Here is youth at its best.

This record of hard work and accomplishment built by Newton young ladies and young gents, engaged along the educational front, arrives from schools located far and near in our land. This is a proud chronicle of purposeful youngsters; with civic pride this, and any other newspaper, publishes the stories.

It is interesting to note that in most cases, the young men who arrive at glory in the classrooms, usually are quite adept in the muscle line on the sports fields. Students of both sexes who achieve scholastic excellence are class leaders, often busily engaged in a variety of extra curricula activities. These embrace the various clubs, fraternities or sororities, teams, periodicals, and religious groups.

These young ta'ents and energies are directed along the channels which lead to good citizenship and happy, fruitful lives.

Wise and sensible are these youngsters. They are the "hep" ones who are preparing themselves as instruments of service and of betterment in the community, the state and nation. Their heedless, lawless contemporaries are to be pitied for a waste of glorious youth.

Our vibrant young people, blazing inspiring records in the nation's schools and colleges, so many from our own Newton, face the challenges of our time with fearlessness and with keen, youthful anticipation. They are the dauntless Davids ready to take on the Goliaths of the future, take 'em on and conquer 'em.

Records prove that the other type of youth, involved with the law, blazing a history of assault and violence, of brutality and blood, are the scared ones. They are confused in our era, running frantic, like rabbits.

Yes, this is a refreshing time of year, for more reasons that the arrival of spring and its associated delights. We now enjoy the other side of the coin of youth, the bright and shining side.

Political Highlights

But none is likely to have as loud and far-reaching political repercussions as the one which will be requested against a widely known and high respected Republican who at various time in the past has held positions of great power and trust.

* * * *

Buck Dumaine May Oppose Ted Kennedy Next November

Republican State Committee Chairman Frederic C. Dumaine has indicated that a "mystery" candidate may carry the GOP battle flag against Senator Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy in next November's election.

It turns out the mystery candidate Chairman Dumaine has in mind is Mr. Dumaine himself.

He may be the Republican who will have the rather dubious privilege of standing against Ted Kennedy in next fall's campaign. It is a privilege and honor which a lot of other Republicans will be happy to grant him.

Whatever else may be said for or against Dumaine, one thing certain is that he isn't lacking in courage. What may be said about his political judgment in tackling Ted Kennedy is something else again.

As a matter of fact, a fight between Kennedy and Dumaine would be extremely interesting. It would be difficult to find two candidates whose political philosophies are further apart.

Dumaine also is one candidate who probably could raise enough money to finance a real campaign against Ted Kennedy.

If Dumaine is to be the GOP nominee for the U. S. Senate, he presumably will step out as Republican State Chairman next month. He cannot be both head of the State Committee and a candidate for the endorsement of the GOP State Convention even though he is not likely to be opposed at the June conclave.

That will not involve much of a sacrifice on Dumaine's part since he would have a fight to hold the chairmanship, and he might get thrown out if he doesn't withdraw voluntarily.

Senator Philip A. Graham already has declared publicly that if he is successful in his quest for the Republican nomination for Governor, he will seek to have Dumaine fired from the chairmanship. So it seems safe to assume that Graham's supporters on the State Committee would not back Dumaine for reelection as GOP State chairman.

Attorney General Edward W. Brooke and Senator Leverett Saltonstall opposed Dumaine's election in the first place, and it's doubtful that their enthusiasm for him has increased any since he won the chairmanship over their opposition.

In fairness, Dumaine has done a reasonably good job as Republican State Chairman although his views are too extremely conservative to suit the political tastes of Saltonstall and Brooke.

The April 28 Presidential Primary will produce quite a change in the makeup of the Republican State Committee. The outcome of the contests for a number of places on the committee is uncertain. At the present time there is no way of foretelling what the sentiment of the new committee will be toward Dumaine.

However, there is little doubt that Dumaine will be given his party's nomination for the U. S. Senate if he doesn't change his mind about wanting to run against Ted Kennedy. That's almost like granting a man permission to commit political suicide. No greater sacrifice could a man make for the Republican party.

How Dumaine and Graham would get along as running mates if Dumaine should be the GOP nominee for the U. S. Senate and Graham the Republican candidate for Governor, is a matter of interesting conjecture. Maybe Graham's delight at finding someone is willing to stand against Ted Kennedy would offset his feeling against Dumaine.

Patrick J. McDonough May Oppose Peabody

Executive Councillor Patrick J. (Sonny) McDonough would be an extremely strong contender if he decides to challenge Governor Peabody for the right to run as the Democratic nominee for the Governorship.

McDonough probably could not defeat Peabody at the Democratic State Convention in June because of Peabody's patronage power although McDonough undoubtedly would make a respectable showing.

But McDonough would have at least an even chance of toppling Peabody in the September primary unless there is a sharp and sudden upturn in Peabody's popularity.

The public impression that Peabody is an inept Governor who sweeps troublesome problems under the rug instead of meeting them, has plunged Peabody into deep political trouble from which he seems unable to extricate himself.

McDonough, who is serving his ninth consecutive term and 18th year in the Governor's Council, made two previous fights for the Democratic nomination of Governor and just missed getting it both times.

He was the front-runner on several ballots at the 1954 Democratic conclave but finally lost the endorsement to Robert F. Murphy. McDonough was topped by Foster Furcolo at the 1956 convention.

Furcolo, incidentally, sought to persuade McDonough to accept the nomination for Lieutenant Governor, but McDonough declined, deciding to remain in the Executive Council.

McDonough apparently will delay his final decision on entering the gubernatorial race until he sees how Peabody fares in the popularity poll which will be one of the highlights of the April 28 Presidential Primary.

Actually, McDonough has little to lose in gambling that he can wrest the Governorship away from Peabody.

Present indications are that the Executive Council in which he has served so long will be stripped of all its statutory powers and that next year it will have only the scant authority granted it under the State Constitution.

The Council's principal duties under the Constitution would be to act upon judicial appointments and recommendations that convicted murderers be spared from death in the electric chair.

It's possible, of course, that other Democratic candidates besides McDonough will jump into the gubernatorial contest if Peabody makes a poor showing in the April 28 Presidential Primary.

Meanwhile, Peabody's lieutenants are quietly working to try to make him look good in the Democratic delegate-at-large contest which will attract so much attention.

They have been asking members of their organization to ballot only for Peabody in order to swell his vote in proportion to that of other members of the slate.

That should make a real hit with other Democratic leaders who have been doing nothing to try to boost their own totals and have just been letting matters take their own course.

BERYL W. COHEN

Cohen

She also topped Cohen by 782 votes in Brookline where they both reside.

But Cohen swept Democratic Brighton in landslide fashion, drawing 3337 votes to only 852 for Mrs. Koplow.

It was in Brighton where Ted Kennedy made his greatest impact, and it was there that the Democratic voters turned out in force in response to his appeals.

Republican leaders clearly were disappointed that Mrs. Koplow carried the Newton end of the district by only 269 votes. They had counted on Newton to help offset Cohen's plurality in Brighton.

About 30 percent of the eligible voters in Wards 1, 6 and 7 of Newton turned out for Tuesday's election.

Only in Ward 6 did Mrs. Koplow make a strong Newton showing.

Cohen carried Ward 1 and ran close behind Mrs. Koplow in Ward 7.

Ward 1 gave Cohen 1161 votes and Mrs. Koplow 610. In Ward 6 the returns were 171 for Mrs. Koplow and 692 for Cohen. The Ward 7 vote was 789 for Mrs. Koplow and 548 for Cohen.

Republican State Committee Chairman Frederic C. Dumaine, Jr., announced

angrily yesterday that he would challenge the seating of Cohen.

There was no chance whatever, however, that his challenge would be upheld by the Democratic-controlled State Senate.

Dumaine charged that state employees who should have been on their jobs and state automobiles were used to help Cohen in Brighton.

This was denied by Cohen who said he saw no state automobiles or anyone working for him who shouldn't have been doing so.

There was no sign of either state employees or state automobiles in the Newton precincts.

Cohen summed up the reason for his election over Mrs. Koplow in just two words. "Ted Kennedy," he said.

Educators and Businessmen In Career Conference At Lasell

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs and Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of the Newton schools, spoke on Thursday, Apr. 2, at an all-day Career Conference attended by more than 100 Massachusetts high school guidance counselors and administrators, and a score of business executives of the Greater Boston area, all of whom were guests of Lasell Junior College.

After a word of welcome by Dr. Blake Tewksbury, Lasell president, Murray E. Sholkin of 12 Evelyn Road, Waban, president of New England Advertising, Inc., gave the keynote address. Expressing dismay at the lack of interest and incentive on the part of today's young people to enter the business world, he urged guidance people to instill in their students a desire to enter the "capitalistic" world — not with the old ideas identified with the word "capitalistic," but with an eye toward the adventure and responsibility the business world offers.

Speaking briefly at the luncheon, Mayor Gibbs endorsed the desire for a closer business-education bond.

Dr. Brown, the principal luncheon speaker, expressed the feeling that education was more than training for a particular job. "It is the development of the young person to fulfill a role as a citizen in society," he said.

The school superintendent pointed out that "we are now beset by an ambivalent society where, although the living, technical, medical and educational scales are all up, we are constantly surrounded by the problems of a sick society involving southern violence, betting scandals, government corruption and increase in mental illness."

Today's challenges of young people are in the following categories, Dr. Brown declared:

1—Living lives by proxy.

2—Too busy to absorb.

3—Life in a world populated by passive people content with the middle-of-the-road and ever eager to play it safe.

He urged the guidance counselors and administrative personnel to help students establish a stronger communication with reality, to see the world and its problems as it exists and not the way it is seen by the slick magazines, television and overdone advertising.

Planned by Lasell, Newton Chamber of Commerce, the Suburban Personnel and Industrial Relations Society, and in co-operation with the Massachusetts Association of Secondary School Principals and the Massachusetts Association of Women Deans and Counselors, the conference was presented in panel form with open discussions.

In addition, the study will probe the significance of political uses of fire by dissident elements within nations.

Backing up the workers with their petitions, post cards, and pencils, together with their placards, was a car with a public address system mounted on it, driven by the Rev. Dr. D. A. Waite, pastor of Faith Baptist Church, who was urging and encouraging the citizens of Massachusetts to back up their own Massachusetts House Resolution passed on March 18, 1964, urging Congress to put in motion machinery for amending the United States Constitution to permit Bible reading and prayer in the public schools.

Local Scientists May Have Found Key To Human Diabetes Research

Three Boston University scientists, two of them Newton doctors, have made discoveries involving transplantation of pancreatic tissue into the cheek pouch of diabetic hamsters, which could possibly aid in human diabetes research.

They are Dr. I. Alden Macchi of Newton Upper Falls, associate professor of biology at the University's College of Liberal Arts, Dr. Samuel B. Beaser of Newton Highlands and Dr. Matthew F. Dak of Arlington, the latter two research associates with the Graduate School, who have been actively engaged in research on vascular and renal pathologies of diabetes and the transplantation of pancreas for several years.

The present investigations were initiated as part of a broad research program in endocrine tissue transplantation directed by Dr. Macchi and were designed specifically to provide a practical means for alleviating the clinical symptoms of diabetes mellitus as well as to provide basic information in the cellular mechanism of production, storage and release of insulin by endocrine pancreas.

It was found that pancreatic tissue from newborn hamsters transplanted to cheek pouches of adult diabetic hamsters displayed normal cytochemical and structural characteristics after suitable periods of growth and also gave evidence of producing a substance similar to insulin in its bioassay behavior. While successful transplantaton of pancreas has been reported previously in other laboratory animals, this is the first direct suggestion that such transplants may be capable of elaborating insulin and in which a correlation between cellular structure and function will have been established.

Dr. Macchi is a member of the American Physiological Society, the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine, the American Society of Zoologists, the Endocrine Society, the New York Academy of Sciences, and the Society of the Sigma Xi. He is author of numerous publications dealing with adrenal endocrinology.

Dr. Beaser, who maintains his own medical practice at 31 Bay State road in Boston, has been engaged in work at Boston University for five years. A practicing internist with special interest in diabetes mellitus, he is also a clinical associate in medicine at the Harvard University Medical School, and a lecturer in medicine at Tufts University. In addition he is Chief of the Diabetes Clinic at Quigley Memorial Hospital in Chelsea.

Don't ever go away again, daddy!

Her Dad is one of the sensible ones. He went to his doctor as soon as he noticed a cancer danger signal. Thanks to his prompt action, his cancer was discovered when it was still in its early stages, and the prospects for cure are more favorable.

Do you know Cancer's Seven Danger Signals? 1. Unusual bleeding or discharge. 2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere. 3. A sore that does not heal. 4. Change in bowel or bladder habits. 5. Hoarseness or cough. 6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing. 7. Change in a wart or mole. If you notice one of these signals and it lasts more than two weeks, see your doctor. It may not be cancer, but only a doctor can tell.

Play it safe and see your doctor once a year for a health checkup, too. And help research and education save lives by sending a check to your local A.C.S. Unit.

Mrs. R. Arnold Fills Two Posts For Local LWV

Mrs. Robert H. Arnold, a member of the Needham League of Women Voters, was chairman of hostesses at "Bullfinch House", the home of the American Meteorological Society, on Beacon street in Boston on April 7.

Mrs. Arnold was invited by the Boston Regional Planning Council, a League organization in the metropolitan Boston area, to help in a daylong tour of five homes on Beacon Hill.

The tour was arranged for the American Society of Planning Officials who are holding their 30th anniversary National Planning Conference in Boston, Apr. 5 to 9.

Four Needham League members assisted Mrs. Arnold. They were Mrs. Maxwell Brenton, Mrs. Joseph Jaymes and Mrs. Philip Livingston.

Mrs. Arnold was also named by the local league to represent them in the newly-formed Charles River Valley Study Group, an organization of members of all local Leagues of Women Voters whose towns or cities border the Charles River.

Last week Mrs. Arnold attended the first in a series of meetings to inform the delegates of possible solutions to problems resulting from the presence of the Charles River.

Each delegate was given a map showing privately and publicly owned land on the banks of the Charles River.

"The delegates plan to study the report of towns along the Sudbury River," Mrs. Arnold said, "to see what has been accomplished in an area with similar problems."

"Our main concerns in the Needham area will be with the subjects of conservation and pollution," she said.

"When our group feels that we have something to offer, we will be in contact with the Needham groups working on planning and conservation."

WE COMMAND YOU, if you intend to make any defense, that on the first Monday of June next, which Monday is the return day of this subpoena, or within such further time as the law allows, you do cause your written appearance to be entered and your written answer or other lawful pleading to be filed in the office of the recorder of said court at Boston in the County of Suffolk, and further that you defend against said suit according to law, if you intend to make any defense, and that you do and recieve what the court shall order, adjudge and decree therein.
Hereof fail not, at your peril, as otherwise said suit may be adjudged, and orders and decrees entered therein, in your absence.
The plaintiffs allege to be the owners of land in the Newtonville Section of Newton on Oak Cliff Road by virtue of a deed running from Howlett dated September 20, 1948, and duly recorded in Book 7339, Page 359, and there appears in the chain of title affecting said property, a foreclosure of a mortgage by the Marlborough Sayings Bank on November 19, 1942, without a previous authority granted under the provisions of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940 as amended, and praying that the Court find and determine that no persons having an interest of record were in the military service and entitled to the benefits of said law at the time of the foreclosure.
And it appearing to the Court upon the suggestion of the plaintiff that the whereabouts of some of the defendants are unknown, and they cannot actually be served with process, it is ORDERED that notice be given by publishing a copy of this order once each week for three successive weeks in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in said Newton, the last publication to be one month at least before the said first Monday of June next.
Witness, JOHN E. FENTON, Judge of our Land Court the twenty-seventh day of March in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and sixty-four.

Quincy Jobs Available To Raytheon Employees

Raytheon Company's abandonment of its plant at 55 Chapel St., Newton, scheduled to take place gradually over the balance of this year means that some 1200 employes will be displaced.

In a statement announcing plans to move the company's Newton facilities to its new plant in Quincy, Robert L. McCormack, vice president and division general manager, said that most of the workers will be offered jobs in Quincy. How many of them would choose to make the change has not yet been determined.

McCormack gave the advantages the Quincy plant offers as the reason for the merger, explaining that it was constructed for the specific purpose of electronic components manufacture.

"Many of the division's newer products are for aerospace use where extremely high reliability standards are prescribed and the best possible production facilities are required," he added.

The company plans to sell the Newton plant, which was acquired in 1929, when it was an unused textile plant.

Products the Newton plant manufactures include power, transmitting and receiving tubes, radiation detection tubes, amplifiers, rectifiers, connectors and spectrum analyzers.

Larger Than Normal Primary Vote Seen Here Next Tuesday

Energetic drives are underway to persuade as many Newton voters as possible to turn out for next Tuesday's Presidential Primary.

Indications are that these endeavors may result in a larger than normal vote.

Polling places in the city will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Interest of Republican voters has been heightened by a battle for election as district delegates to the GOP national convention in which Newton Mayor Donald L. Gibbs heads one slate and William A. Lincoln of Newton, chairman of the Republican Finance Committee, leads an opposing group.

Other members of the Gibbs slate, who were picked by Senator Leverett Saltonstall and Republican National Committeeman Richard F. Treadway, are State Senator John F. Parker of Taunton, like Gibbs a candidate for election as delegate, and Frances W. Hallowell of Westwood and Rosalie B. Bennett of Plainville, who are seeking election as alternates.

Teamed with Lincoln are Representative David M. Locke of Wellesley, Republican State Committeewoman Barbara F. Schulman of Newton and William F. Walton of Attleboro. Lincoln and Locke are seeking election as delegates. Mrs. Schulman and Walton are candidates for alternates.

Both slates are officially uncommitted. However, it is expected that Gibbs and Parker would support Henry Cabot Lodge if he is a contender for the Presidential nomination at the Republican national convention.

While the Lincoln group is referred to as a "grass roots" slate, it is reportedly favorable to the candidacy of Senator Barry Goldwater.

The fight between the two slates will be waged throughout the Martin congressional district. However, the Newton vote could be an important factor in deciding its outcome.

Newton voters will have an opportunity to record their Presidential Preferences when they mark their ballots next Tuesday.

But there is no place on the Newton ballot for listing a Vice Presidential choice.

This may mean that some Democrats who desire to manifest their support for Robert F. Kennedy for Vice President will write his name as their Presidential Preference.

Former UN Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is considered certain to top the Republican Presidential write-in vote in Newton. Some organized effort is being made in the city in his behalf. There is widespread speculation as to who will run second to Lodge in Newton.

Most of the Democratic voters who write a Presidential preference on their ballot are expected to make Lyndon B. Johnson their choice.

What may pull some Democratic voters to the polls in Newton next Tuesday is the popularity contest between the leading Democratic figures of the State who are standing for election as delegates- at-large.

While all the top Democrats are certain of becoming delegates, political experts will be watching to see which of them make a

Funeral Service At Waban For Callahan

Prominent city and state officials will attend a solemn high Mass of requiem for William Francis "Bill" Callahan, 72, perhaps the most powerful public figure in Massachusetts and a man who spent a lifetime in making a dream of progress in the Commonwealth come true, which will be celebrated this (Thursday) morning in St. Philip Neri Church, Waban.

Mr. Callahan's remarkable career ended unexpectedly on Monday, April 20, when he was stricken with a heart attack in his home at 8 Winnetska road, Waban, and died soon afterward at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

His reputation as a man who gets things done was acquired during his two terms as Massachusetts Commissioner of Public Works, and maintained while, under his direction, a second tunnel under Boston Harbor was built, and private funds were obtained to finance construction of the Massachusetts Turnpike from the New York State line across Daylight Saving Time is upon us once again. With it comes the annual twirling of the clock and watch hands.

It's ahead at this time, and we lose an hour. However, we'll collect it in the fall. So, sometime between Saturday night and 2 a.m. on Sunday, push the time pieces ahead. If it's 11 o'clock, make it midnight, etc. At any rate, it's another move towards spring, and away from winter.

The local winners, their schools, and the college of their choice are as follows:

David M. Blocker, who intends to major at Harvard in liberal arts, has not as yet decided on his career plans. A member of the National Honor Society, he attends Hebrew Teachers College in Brookline. At Newton High he participated in the Massachusetts Drama Festival, performs with the school's Madrigal Singers, and has golf, bowling and piano playing as hobbies.

Democratic Popularity Poll To Feature Returns Tuesday

Next Tuesday's Presidentiaal Primary in Massachusetts may make a greater impact on the Democratic gubernatorial picture than on the fight for the Republican Presidential nomination.

Closest attention, when the returns are counted Tuesday night, will center on the results of the popularity contest in which the top Democratic figures of the State will engage.

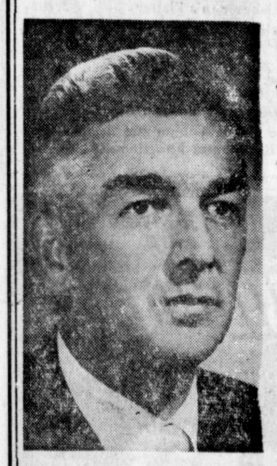

Specially significant will be the showing by Governor Endicott Peabody who is standing for renomination and reelection. Both Democratic and Republican politicos will be watching for any signs of weakness in Peabody's political armor.

A strong run by Peabody would discourage potential challengers and brighten his chances of achievthe Commonwealth to Boston.

Funeral

At the time of his death, only that section of the toll road from Weston, through Newton, to a terminus near Boston's South Station, remains uncompleted. Had he lived only a little longer he would have seen his greatest ambition fulfilled — vehicular traffic streaming into Boston, the city he loved, after passing through Newton, the place of his residence.

It was "Bill" Callahan, as state public works commissioner, who changed the course of old Route 128 that set a snake-like course around Boston from Nantasket to Gloucester, and turned the highway into the famed "Golden Electronic Arc" it became.

Also as state public works head it was he who proposed a gigantic expressway through Boston that would connect with another one at a point just past the South Station. The job was completed by a succeeding commissioner, but it was Callahan who got it underway.

The second tunnel under Boston Harbor was built by him as a monument to his son, Lt. William F. Callahan Jr., who died while fighting in Italy during the last few days of World War II.

A great engineer, and always a fighter, "Bill" Callahan, like all men whose determination to accomplish things creates opposition, had many battles to fight and handicaps to overcome. But in all his long career no handicap or opposition got him down, not even when he was a victim of cancer and had to suffer removal of his larynx. He merely learned to use diaphragmatic speech and carried on.

His widow, Mrs. Kathleen (Murphy) Callahan is seriously ill with cancer at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton. Besides Mrs. Callahan, he leaves a daughter, the former Jane Callahan, who is Mrs. John J. Kelley Jr., of Wellesley.

Just prior to being stricken, Mr. Callahan had arranged a meeting with representatives of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in an effort to convince them of the merit of building their $50,000,000 center on air rights over the toll road section near the B & A yards in Allston.

One of those he was scheduled to meet with yesterday (Wednesday) was Fred Smith, the man with whom he guided the Prudential Center into Boston on land that he had the foresight to option, but which he turned over to Prudential.

Youngsters Make Video Hit

Students of Newton South High School projected an exceptional image of the young people of this city when they participated last week in a nation-wide television documentary on the conflicts developing over the smoking of cigarettes.

Our local high school youngsters were the only teen-age entrants in the televised program which featured some of the biggest guns on both sides of the controversy, here and in England.

The South High representatives were in big time company but performed in stellar fashion. The young men and women who were featured on the panel expressed themselves in convincing fashion. They matched their concise and considered viewpoints with the most formidable adults on the program. The youngsters' opinions made good sense.

A considerable portion of the program, and many of the words spoken on both sides, were directed at the increasing lack of responsibility being displayed in televised cigarette advertising.

Of course, this subtle picturing of young and attractive, healthy and happy young people, variously postured while puffing on the weed, is aimed at the youngsters of America. This tremendous market whets the appetites of the cigarette manufacturers.

They pour millions of dollars into the kind of advertising that will attract our adolescent population to becoming addicted to the questionable delights of the nicotine stick.

From a strictly objective viewpoint, it must be stated that those who presented opinions in opposition to cigarette smoking came off with the laurels on the television forum.

Venturesome young males of earlier generations who took their first wavering steps towards tobacco, usually via a few nose-choking puffs on a corn-silk, home-made reefer, were not lured by enticing scenes on a television screen in their home.

There was no particular reason for doing it, unless it was to be considered as one of the "big guys." Young girls had no similar inducement in those days, so refrained from the habit, usually unto death, at a ripe old age.

But, times certainly have changed. All the best aspects of life are not flashed into the homes of the land by way of the video screen. Words, ideas, suggestions, that never would be tolerated even in conversation by well-organized American families of some decades back, are casually accepted, along with the often mediocre fare, spewed daily from the magic box, and into the formative minds of youngsters everywhere.

The documentary program of last week brought into sharp focus the problems arising when a move is made to alert the public to a situation which could flame into a major menace.

The old cliche, "You can't fight City Hall" has been rewritten to warn, "You can't fight the Big Buck."

Baseball's Grand Gesture

Despite its saturation coverage via the printed and airwaved word, and televised picture, baseball is not meat and potatoes to all dwellers in the Bay State.

But, last Friday the old national game moved into the hearts of everyone in the Commonwealth from Governor Peabody down to the tiniest toddler able to comprehend the world around him, beyond the boundaries of the play-pen.

The unusual interest in diamond doings was born of the generous gesture of Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox in donating the proceeds of the game in Boston to the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library Fund. It made a lot of new friends for baseball and rekindled the love of the game in some cooled-off hearts.

Too much praise and credit cannot be given Mr. Yawkey for his magnificent motion of respect and love for our late, and still mourned, young President. A baseball game never was played for a greater cause, nor before a more appreciative audience, in the park or televised.

The martyred, youthful President Kennedy, was remembered reverently on Friday. And, youth was also served, and applauded, in the wiry person of Tony Conigliaro. The rookie Red Soxer belted the first ball pitched into the blue for a circuit hit. It was almost as if he had gripped the bat and said, "This one's for JFK."

And, you may be certain that John Fitzgerald Kennedy, somewhere off in the depths of Valhalla, jumped to his feet among the ghostly company of the immortals and cheered the young athlete around the base paths to home plate.

All of us are grateful to Tom Yawkey for a memorable day, a memory, and a glorious assist for a great cause.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

May I, through the courtesy of your paper, express sincerest thanks to the many old and new friends who supported my candidacy for the State Senate in the election last week.

To the thousands of voters in Brookline, Newton, and Brighton who responded with warmth and enthusiasm and to the hundreds of Republicans, Democrats, and Independents, some whose names I do not know, who volunteered without thought of compensation for a cause they felt worthwhile go my heartfelt appreciation.

Our campaign was hard-fought, but elements beyond our control kept us from victory. Nevertheless, I feel personally rewarded for having had the opportunity to make and strengthen so many fine friendships.

Sincerely,
Rep. Freyda P. Koplow

Lodge "Dragged Feet"

Editor of The Graphic:

In the last Presidential Election (1960), Henry Cabot Lodge (the then candidate for Vice President) "dragged his feet" so successfully that the Republicans lost the election.

How can we ever really trust him again for any office.

School Pupils Will Be Guests Of Arts Group

Elementary school children of the Newton area will be the guests of the Creative Arts Committee of the Newton PTA Council at two operatic performances on Saturday, April 25. The committee is sponsoring these performances in cooperation with Supervisor of Music James Remley.

Jack and the Beanstalk, an opera written especially for children by Henry Lasker of the Newton High School music department, will be performed at the high school at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. Originally commissioned by the Brookline Youth Concerts, the opera has also been performed at the Worcester Art Museum and the Boston Arts Festival.

Saturday's performances were planned as a memorial to Mrs. Harrison (Blanche) Gass, the original narrator of the opera and a pioneer in creative drama for children in the Greater Boston area.

The composer, Mr. Lasker, will conduct a full professional performance with the following cast: Mary Lou Sullivan as Jack, Leslie Leosli as Jack's mother, John Ring as the Giant, Eleanor Davis as the Giant's wife, Loretta Michaels as the Narrator. Mr. John Ring is also in charge of stage production.

The orchestra has been provided through the generosity of the Music Performance Trust Fund of the Musician's Union Local 9, whose president is George Harris.

ing renomination in next September's Presidential Primary.

A poor performance by Peabody might prompt other prominent Democrats now standing in the wings to move out to battle him for the right to run as the Democratic candidate for Governor next November.

In a sense the prestige of a number of leading Democrats will be on the line Tuesday.

In addition to Peabody, they include Senator Edward M. Kennedy, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, Speaker John W. McCormack of the national House, former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Jr., Boston Mayor John F. Collins, State Treasurer John T. Driscoll, Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti, Secretary Kevin H. White and State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley.

With the exception of Peabody, however, none of them seem particularly concerned about the situation and are making no effort to get votes for themselves.

The popularity poll will result from the vote for the delegates-at-large to the Democratic national convention.

Because 58 delegates-at-large are to be elected and only 56 names were contained on the slate filed by the Democratic State Committee, Secretary of State White ruled that the 56 candidates must run as individuals and that it is not possible to vote for all of them by pulling one lever.

This means that the Democratic voters who go to the polls Tuesday undoubtedly will pick and choose between the 56 names. The big question is whom they will pick and whom they will bypass.

Even though next Tuesday's Presidential Primary offers the voters an opportunity to record their preference for President and although hot fights are being waged in many sections for control of ward and town committees, for places on the Democratic and Republican State Committee and in some instances for election as delegates to the national conventions, the turnouts will be much smaller than it should be.

Those who do go to the polls will be a combination of people who take seriously their responsibility as citizens, those who are persuaded by friends to spend the few minutes necessary to cast their ballots and those who are politically-minded.

The fact that the most famous Democrats in the Commonwealth are involved in a popularity contest may bring out a bigger vote than would otherwise be the case.

Aside from Governor Peabody's showing, there will be a number of interesting aspects to the returns.

The two Kennedy brothers—Senator Kennedy and U. S. Attorney General Kennedy—will technically be running against each other.

A guess from this department is that Ted Kennedy will top the ticket. There is a great deal of speculation as to how Bobby Kennedy will do. The probability is that he will do pretty well and will finish not far behind his younger brother.

Speaker John W. McCormack, who now stands only a heartbeat away from the Presidency, is almost certain to be one of the top vote-getters.

The vote polled by Boston Mayor John F. Collins, particularly in areas away from his home city, will be studied by the political analysts.

Some Democratic politicians still think Collins will step into the gubernatorial contest this year if the returns show him running ahead of Peabody.

That belief probably is not well founded. Collins' political timetable calls for him to strike out for state-wide office in 1966, and the outcome of the Presidential Primary is not likely to change his plans.

The fact that Collins is making no drive for support next Tuesday indicates in itself that he is not thinking in terms of running for any office this year.

There is substantial evidence that Collins is highly respected by Democratic voters across the Commonwealth. That should be reflected by the vote he receives.

What may have a direct bearing on the upcoming fight for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination is whether State Treasurer Driscoll or Lieutenant Governor Bellotti comes in ahead of Peabody. Both are potential candidates for the Governorship.

Secretary of State White also might be placed in the same category as Driscoll and Bellotti although White is handicapped by a poor position on the ballot.

Governor's Councillor Patrick J. McDonough, who may battle Governor Peabody in next September's primary, is another contender in the popularity poll. McDonough is waiting until after next Tuesday to make known his plans. He probably will be more interested in Peabody's weaknesses than in his own strength since he needs a campaign buildup to make a really strong showing.

No Place on Ballot For Bobby VP Votes

How the Presidential write-in vote will be split up in Massachusetts next Tuesday is a matter of much conjecture.

Lyndon B. Johnson and Henry Cabot Lodge appear certain to capture the bulk of the Presidential write-ins of their respective parties.

However, the political pundits will be watching to see the extent to which other Presidential contenders are able to cut into Lodge's vote in his home State.

No campaign has been waged for write-in votes in Massachusetts. None of the Presidential contenders came here on hand-shaking expeditions or stumping tours such as were made in New Hampshire.

Nevertheless, there will be an expression of Presidential preferences by the Bay State voters as they mark their ballots and turn the levers on their voting machines.

Supporters of Senator Barry Goldwater and Governor Nelson Rockefeller will be quietly trying to make their favorites look as good as possible at the expense of Lodge.

Goldwater should run second to Lodge on the GOP Presidential write-ins, with Rockefeller third.

Little sentiment is expected to crop up for Richard M. Nixon and Governor William Scranton who evidently stand higher with the Republican bosses than with the Republican voters.

Some confusion may develop over the Democratic Presidential write-in vote because of the desire of many people to record themselves in favor of Robert Kennedy as the Vice Presidential nominee.

Ordinarily, there is no vote for Vice President, and there is no specific place on next Tuesday's ballot for writing in the name of a Vice Presidential choice.

What undoubtedly will happen is that thousands of people will write Bobby Kennedy's name into the box provided for listing a Presidential preference.

While Bobby actually may be their choice for Vice President, their votes in such an event would be counted as Presidential write-ins.

This mixup seems inevitable as a result of the lack of any place on the ballot for recording a Vice Presidential preference.

Local Women Are School Founders

The Legal Secretarial Institute at 400 Boylston St., Boston, Mass., is introducing a new course.

It is offering an accelerated 10 week course to high school graduates, stenographers, typists, and to women who have been away from the office and now wish to enter the prestige position of legal secretary.

The course is being taught by experienced lawyers, members of the Massachusetts and Federal Bar. They have been in practice for many years and have had practical experience in training secretaries. The average legal course is 1 to 2 years in duration. The Institute can equip an intelligent girl to be a useful legal secretary in 10 weeks.

Phyllis K. Yarosh, married to Attorney David Yarosh of Newton Center, is a member of the Massachusetts, Federal, and Supreme Court Bar. She was admitted to practice in 1949. Mrs. Yarosh is Education Chairman for Hancock Chapter, Women's American ORT, a member of the Massachusetts Women Lawyers Association, Newton Country Players, and was active in the United Fund Campaign in Newton. She has recently been nominated with Mr. Yarosh as Co-Presidents of the Spaulding School Parent Teachers' Association. Sandra E. Scholnick of Brookline is also a director.

Robt. Gallagher Seeks 2nd Term On Democratic State Committee

ROBERT W. GALLAGHER

Democratic State Committeeman Robert W. Gallagher of West Newton is seeking reelection in next Tuesday's Presidential Primary in the senatorial district which includes Dedham, Needham, Weston, Wellesley and Wards 2, 3, 4, 5 and 8 of Newton.

Prominent Democrats in all sections of the senatorial district have endorsed Gallagher for a second term on the Democratic State Committee on the strength of his service on the committee during the past four years and his work generally for the Democratic party.

Gallagher, who was elected to the Democratic Committee in 1960, is widely known for the energetic manner in which he has worked to promote the Democratic cause.

He was co-chairman of the Adlai Stevenson Committee in Newton in 1956.

Two years ago, he was treasurer of John T. Driscoll's campaign for reelection as State Treasurer.

In 1960 Gallagher assisted Thomas J. White with the late President John F. Kennedy's campaign in Newton. White, who is one of the trustees of the Kennedy Memorial Library, was chairman of the John F. Kennedy Birthday Dinner last year, and Gallagher was one of his aides on that occasion.

Active for years in Democratic affairs, Gallagher was one of the Democratic stalwarts in Newton when working Democrats were hard to find in the Garden City.

He has worked in the campaigns of leading Democrats back through the days of the late Maurice J. Tobin and the late Paul A. Dever.

Gallagher has been a member of the Newton Ward 3 Democratic Committee for the past 12 years.

Married and the father of six children, he resides at 38 Tennyson road in West Newton. He is administrative assistant to State Treasurer John T. Driscoll, one of the most respected public figures in the Commonwealth. Gallagher also is president of the Mercury Oil Company of Somerville.

Stock Dividend Voted by Garden City Trust Co.

Announcement has been made by Charles E. Dockser, president of the Garden City Trust Company, that at the recent directors' meeting it was voted, subject to the approval of the stockholders, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the State Banking Commissioner, to pay a four percent dividend on shares now outstanding, and to authorize the sale of 15,022 shares of additional capital stock.

A special stockholders' meeting will be held May 13 to vote on the proposal and to confirm a 26c cash dividend.

A new stock to be issued and the 4% stock dividend will increase the bank's capitalization by $381,324.00, to cover a program of expansion and the opening of a new branch now being planned.

Present stockholders will have preference in the purchase of the new issue on the basis of one share for each six shares now held. It is expected that a limited number of shares will be available to the general public.

The 4% stock dividend will be paid on June 12 to stockholders of record May 12.

Conclave

which Negro-white and lower and middle class tensions are prominent. It also hopes to evaluate group training methods as ways of educating teachers and others to cope with these problems.

"Teachers who work with such children," said Dr. Anderson, "will need to have special opportunities to develop their understanding and skills in building learning groups."

Participants in the conference will work to develop action programs which can be implemented in their own areas, after they have examined the difficulties that cause problems in their systems in dealing with disadvantaged children.

"We hope to be able to help the respective districts formulate programs that will train the teachers in their systems in human relations techniques that will aid them in the classroom," Dr. Anderson stated.

The Waban man also pointed out that the eventual aim of the four-day conference is to help the pupils better understand themselves and the forces that act on them as a group; to increase learning, and, generally, to help them develop a better attitude toward improving themselves."

Harold Sparr Candidate For State Committee

Harold B. Sparr of Needham, is a candidate for election as Democratic State Committeman from the Norfolk-Middlesex District in the Presidential Primary to be held next Tuesday. Included in the Senatorial District are the Towns of Dedham, Needham, Wellesley and Weston and wards 2, 3, 4, 5 and 8 of Newton.

A participator in many civic and social functions, Mr. Sparr has served as an officer in several organizations. He is active in the Boy Scout movement as a Troop Committeeman.

He is Corresponding Secretary, Special Affairs Chairman, and JFK Library Fund Chairman, of the Needham Town Democratic Committee and has been an active campaigner for several local and statewide Democratic aspirants. Last June, Mr. Sparr was Chairman of the Committee's first fund-raising barbecue, which was extremely successful.

Educated in the Brookline schools, he is a graduate of the Mass. College of Pharmacy.

Mr. Sparr made the following statement concerning his candidacy: "Because our area is growing so rapidly, we need a Democratic State Committeeman with initiative, political knowledge, and a fresh point of view. As a professional man with considerable experience and interest in local matters, I believe that I can be of significant service to our District. As the only candidate for this position who is not pledged to a specific interest or group, the interests of all Democrats in our District would receive representation, if I am elected."

He also said, "The principal purpose of the Democratic State Committee is to create a cohesive party organization capable of exerting political leadership in keeping with the needs of the Commonwealth. The dignity of the individual and the welfare of our fellow citizens, critical issues before our legislators today, which we as Democrats are committed to, require in order to achieve truly effective government an open line of communication between the people and their representatives. As a State Committeeman, I would make sure that constant contact is maintained with Town and Ward Committees, elected Democratic officials, and other interested party members in our District and that the views of the constituents in this area receive an adequate hearing in party councils."

Robert Johnson Seeking GOP Committee Post

"Let's bring the Republican party back to the people!"

That is the campaign slogan of Robert L. Johnson of Weston, formerly a Newton resident, who is making a vigorous drive for election as Republican State Committeeman in the Norfolk-Middlesex senatorial district.

The district in which Johnson is standing for election embraces Needham, Dedham, Wellesley, Weston and Wards 2,3,4,5 and 8 of Newton.

A marine veteran of the fighting on Guadalcanal, Johnson was educated at Wilbraham Academy, Brown University and Western Maryland College.

He is president of Andrew Johnson & Company, a large firm engaged in blueprinting and photographic reproduction work.

Other members of his family, including his sister, Mrs. Harold F. Miller of Dedham, have also been active in Republican affairs.

Johnson has some advice on how the Republican party can be brought back to the people.

"Let's get to know people and understand their problems, not live in a little world of our own," he says.

"Let's build a Republican platform big enough for many people to stand on, not a platform so small no one can get on it.

"Let's go out and win new voters, not sit around and talk to ourselves.

"Let's run candidates who want to work, win and serve, not timid souls who avoid issues, fights and decisions."

Newton Women Voters Help Give Some Primary Answers

Members of the Newton League of Women Voters have endeavored to provide the answers to some of the questions people are asking concerning next Tuesday's Presidential Primary.

The following questions and answers have been compiled under the direction of Mrs. Saul Shapiro, voters service chairman of the Newton League.

What is a primary?

A primary is an election within a party held for two purposes:

1. To elect party leaders—the men and women who determine party policy between elections.

2. To choose the candidates the parties will put up for office in the general elections.

Who can vote on April 28, 1964?

Any registered voter may vote at his polling place. Absentee voting in the primaries is not permitted in Massachusetts. If your party preference is indicated on the voting list, you will receive the ballot of the party so named. If you are independent, you may ask for the ballot of your choice.

Can I remain an independent and still vote in the primary?

Yes. Although on primary day you must vote on a party ballot, you may go to the City Hall after the primary and have the party designation removed. An "independent" who votes in general elections but stays away from the polls at primary time is actually a "dependent voter." On election day he can vote only for candidates chosen by someone else.

Whom do we elect on April 28, 1964?

1. Delegates-at-large and alternates-at-large to the National Conventions (representing the state).

Democrats—56 delegates-at-large (32 have 1 vote each at convention; 26 have ½ vote each) NOTE: Also representing Massachusetts will be the ex-President of the State Senate John E. Powers and Mrs. Mary E. Fantasia who, as members of the Democratic National Committee, are automatically qualified as delegates with 1 vote each. Their names will not appear on the ballot but with them our total number of delegates-at-large is 58 — and 43 alternates-at-large.

Republicans — 10 delegates-at-large 1 (vote each at convention) and 10 alternates-at-large.

2. District delegates and alternates (representing your congressional district). There are 12 Congressional Districts.

Democrats — 2 delegates (1 vote each at convention) and 2 alternates from each congressional district. Republicans—2 delegates (1 vote each at convention and 2 alternates from each congressional district. NOTE: An alternate votes only in the absence of a regular delegate.

3. State Committee members (from your state senatorial district).

Democrats — 1 man and 1 woman.

Republican — 1 man and 1 woman.

4. Ward Committee members.

A minimum of 3 and not more than 35 for each party.

How do I indicate my presidential preference?

There is a space provided on the ballot for you to write in your choice for candidate for President of the United States. Names of presidential candidates are not listed on the Massachusetts primary ballot. The voter simply writes in the name of his own preference. This is a valuable guide to the national convention delegates, but does not bind them to support any specific candidate.

What are the duties of the delegates to the National Party Conventions?

1. To nominate a candidate for President and Vice President.

2. To adopt a party platform.

3. To elect a new national committee to serve from 1964-1968.

4. To adopt rules for allocation of delegates among the states to the next presidential convention and for governing the national committee during the next four years.

When will the National Convention take place?

Democratic — Atlantic City, New Jersey on August 24, 1964.

Republican — San Francisco, California on July 15, 1964.

What is the State Committee?

The permanent agency of the party on a state level. Its duties:

1. To supervise and coordinate work of the city ward and town committees.

2. To meet in state conventions.

3. To elect a state chairman.

4. To facilitate election of party's candidates for all state offices.

What are the duties of the ward and town committees?

1. To serve as the backbone of the party on a local level.

2. To send delegates to the state conventions.

Why should I vote in a primary?

This is your opportunity to choose your party leaders, the men and women who will spearhead the activities of the Democratic and Republican parties for the next four years, and to show whether or not present party policies are acceptable to you.

VOTE ON APRIL 28. KEEP PARTY CONTROL IN THE HANDS OF THE VOTER!

Miller Sets Up Strong Bid For State Committee

Stanley Miller of Newton who is making a strong campaign for election to the Republican State Committee from the senatorial district which includes Wards 2, 3, 4, 5, & 8 of Newton and the Towns of Needham, Dedham, Wellesley and Weston, believes that the Republican Party requires re-invigoration and that a complete study of the activities of the Republican State Committee is absolutely necessary.

"The district that we represent includes what is probably one of the strongest Republican voting groups in the State," stated Mr. Miller" and the influence toward good government can be tremendous.

"However it is necessary that the State Committee work closely with the Town and City Committees, and in turn with the Ward and Precinct group. This I intend to do so that the efforts of the State and Local Republican groups will be co-ordinated to the fullest extent."

Mr. Miller's interest in the G.O.P. have been wide and varied in addition to his political activities, he has been active in many civic projects aiming toward the betterment of the community. Mr. Miller was awarded the distinguished service citation as Newton's Outstanding Young Man of the Year by the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce.

His candidacy for Republican State Committeeman is sponsored by hundreds of his fellow citizens in Newton, Weston, Wellesley, Needham and Dedham.

Mr. Miller resides at 11 Llewellyn Road, West Newton. He is married to Helaine Miller, president of the Newton Women's Republican Club, and has three children.

This has prompted supporters of some prominent Democrats to importune their friends to get out and vote on Tuesday.

Lively battles will be settled by the voters next Tuesday for places on the Republican and Democratic State Committees and in some instances for control of the ward committees which choose the delegates who attend the State conventions.

Democratic State Committeeman Robert W. Gallagher of West Newton is waging a strong campaign for reelection to a second term on the official Democratic State organization in the senatorial district which includes Wards 2, 3, 4, 5 and 8 of Newton along with the towns of Needham, Dedham, Wellesley and Weston.

Opposing Gallagher in a five-way contest are Harold D. Sparr of Needham, Sidney Cohen of Newton, Representative Irving Fishman of Newton and Paul Hayward of Dedham. Hayward actually withdrew from the field but neglected to notarize his withdrawal. Consequently, his name remains on the ballot.

Democratic State Committeewoman Betty Taymor of Newton is unopposed for reelection.

A hard-fought three-man contest is being waged for reelection as Republican State Committeeman from the Norfolk-Middlesex senatorial district which takes in Wards 2, 3, 4, 5 and 8 of Newton.

Opposing contenders are Robert L. Johnson of Weston, a former Newton resident, Stanley Miller of Newton and Republican State Committeeman Frank C. Eaton of Needham.

Johnson has made an extremely active campaign which he has tied to the slogan, "Let's bring the Republican party back to the people."

In the same senatorial district, Mrs. Janice Slessinger is making a strong bid for election as Republican State Committeewoman. She is opposed by Mrs. Elizabeth Amesbury of Wellesley.

Heart Association Leaflet On Smoking Here

About 60,000 men die prematurely in the United States each year of heart attacks associated with cigarette smoking, according to a new American Heart Association leaflet, "What Everyone Should Know About Smoking and Heart Disease," issued here today by the Massachusetts Heart Association.

This increment of 60,000 "extra" deaths is approximately equal, the leaflet points out, to the estimated number of men who die prematurely of all other diseases associated with smoking, including lung cancer.

Contributing to the increase in premature deaths, according to the leaflet, is an increase in the rate of heart attacks among cigarette smokers. In one study cited, the heart attack rate in heavy cigarette smokers was three times higher than that of non smokers, pipe and cigar smokers and former cigarette smokers. The increased heart attack is accompanied by an increase in the heart attack death rate among cigarette smokers, averaging about 70 percent higher.

In question and answer format, the pocket-sized leaflet briefly summarizes some of the important facts obtained thus far from research into the effects of cigarette smoking on the heart and blood vessels.

The questions discussed in the leaflet include:

"Are cigarettes a health hazard for teen-agers?" Answer: Yes . . . the earlier one begins to smoke, the greater the risk in future years.

"Does cigarette smoking cause heart disease?" Answer: It has not been proved to be a direct cause, but studies strongly suggest that it contributes to or speeds up the development of coronary artery disease which leads to heart attacks.

"Why is smoking especially dangerous for patients with diseases of blood vessels in the arms and legs?" Answer: It aggravates their condition by constricting blood vessels that are already narrowed and damaged.

The also points out that "smoking is an added risk for people who are more susceptible to coronary artery disease, such as those with high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol, signs of hardening of the arteries, a family history of heart attacks and strokes in middle age, or a combination of any of these conditions."

Veteran smokers, especially those pack-a-day men who have recently sworn off, will find their resolution strengthened by the affirmative answer to the question "If you have been a heavy smoker, does it help to stop?": Yes, because the death rate from coronary artery disease decreases among those who give up smoking and after a time approaches that of people who have never smoked.

Single copies of "What Everyone Should Know about Smoking and Heart Disease" are available without charge from your nearest Heart Association. Physicians may also request a supply of copies to give their patients. Or write to 639 Beacon Street, Kenmore Square, Boston 15, Mass.

Mass 65 Enrollment To April 30

BOSTON — The Massachusetts 65 Health Insurance Association announced today that applications for enrollment in Mass 65 will continue to be accepted until April 30. Persons who apply for membership prior to April 30 can have their coverage become effective on May 1 without the normally required waiting period between quarterly enrollments.

Mass 65 normally accepts applications for new members only on January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1. In announcing this special "open" enrollment opportunity, Herbert S. Woods, General Manager of Mass 65 said, "Mass 65 has received many inquiries from people who missed the April 1 enrollment date and is also anxious to make this health insurance plan available to the more than six thousand Massachusetts residents who will become 65 in April. Normally, persons who did not apply for membership before April 1st would have to wait until the next quarterly date, July 1st.

Persons who wish to enroll for Mass 65 can do so by contacting their local insurance agent or broker. Mass 65 is sponsored by forty-six of America's leading private insurance companies and now has nearly 40,000 Massachusetts residents age 65 and over enrolled in the plan. The average age of Mass 65 members is approximately seventy-five years "young."

GARDEN HINTS

Bright sunshine and longer days will now begin to show their effects by a steady growth of things indoors as well as outdoors.

House plants that are growing vigorously and are healthy may have to be shifted into larger sized pots. If this is long neglected the plants are certain to suffer the consequence.

Annuals may be sown now indoors as well as in the hotbed.

Lawns may now be raked off and top dressed if it was not done in the fall with organic fertilizers or bonemeal or compost.

This is a busy month in the vegetable garden. Seeds of the hardier vegetables may be sown in hotbeds or in the open ground in locations where the frost is out and the ground is dry.

Straw or leaves used to cover strawberries should now be removed, and the beds hoed or dug lightly.

About the middle of this month the hardier sorts of vegetable seeds or plants, such as beets, cabbage, cauliflower, celery, lettuce, onions, parsley, parsnips, peas, potatoes, radishes, spinach, turnips, etc., should all be sown, for if these varieties of vegetables are delayed until the hot weather in May, they will not be so early, and in most cases will not produce so fine a crop.

It is quite a common practice with many amateurs to delay garden operations of all kinds until May, and they are certain to be disappointed.

Perennials may be divided and planted as early as they can be handed in workable soil.

Each small division of a hardy Chrysanthemum clump will make a blooming plant by autumn.

Buy your rosebushes now for planting while they are still in a dormant condition.

Prime the old plants when the weather is not too cold, cutting out all dead wood.

Dig plant food, manure, or compost around the roots when the ground is dry enough to work.

Start tuberous rooted begonias in boxes or pots at once. Early plantings of glads can now be done.

Divide theh Dahlia clumps and have thehm ready for planting next month.

New Owner To Remodel House Thought a Risk

It came as a surprise to the Board of Aldermen and to Vincent D. Burns, building commissioner, Tuesday night, to learn that there had been a recent change of ownership of a house at 47 Kirstall road, Newtonville.

During the course of a public hearing called to determine whether the structure, which had ben damaged by fire, was dangerous and a hazard to children of the area, and therefore should be razed, it was brought out that the situation did not involve abandonment by an owner who had made no attempt to demolish the house.

Instead, there had been a change of ownership on April 6.

Anna Chotek, attorney for the new owner, told the Board that he was a Ukranian who came to this country 10 years ago, and now lived in Dorchester, and that he had arranged with a contractor to make repairs so he could make the house his home.

Mrs. Chotek said that within a week a request for permission to do the remodeling would be made to the building commission's office.

President Wendell R. Bauckman advised her that the Board would take the matter under advisement and await the result of the request for a permit.

Commissioner Burns, on being questioned, said that it was his opinion the building could be remodeled.

Newton Young Democrats Meet To Name Delegates

The Young Democrats of Newton held a caucus last Sunday, April 19, at 1383 Washington street, West Newton, to choose delegates to the state convention of the Young Democrats to be held in Agawam on May 9.

President Peter F. Harrington, Jr., said "The enthusiasm of the club members should be rewarded by allowing as many as possible to participate in the State Convention." He then announced that the members of the Newton delegation would each have a fractional vote, which would give everyone who attended the convention the status of voting delegate.

He then introduced Thomas M. Sullivan, president of the Massachusetts Young Democrats, who outlined the purpose of the convention and the duties of the delegates. Sullivan explained that the Young Democrats Convention mirrored the National Democratic Convention to be held in late August and more often than not the platform endorsed by the Young Democrats, because it reflects the philosophy of a dynamic segment of the Democratic Party, is incorporated into the National Party Platform.

Newton President Harrington announced that all the candidates for State office would be invited to the next meeting Sunday, May 3.

Appointed to convention committees were George Mead credentials committee; Frank Piselli, rules committee; Atty. Frank J. Nicolazzo, constitutional revision committee.

The following are the Newton delegates to the State Young Democrats Convention: Chairman, Atty. Harrington; Ward 1—Rep. Joseph G. Bradley, Alderman Andrew J. Magni, Anthony Pellegrini, Frank Piselli; Ward 2—Mary Ellen Gorman; Ward 3—John M. Loftus, Mr. and Mrs. George Mead, Atty. Frank J. Nicolazzo, Nathan Rosenbaum; Ward 4—John L. Mathews, Atty. William P. Mathews, Mary McGrath, Mr. and Mrs. Richard McGrath, John Timmons, James Vaccaro; Ward 5—Barbara Berig, Donald Berig, Anne Mullen, Kathleen Mullen; Ward 6—Atty Herbert S. Cohen, Ann P. Harrington, Joan E. Harrington.

Reappointment Of 3 Confirmed

The following reappointments of Mayor Donald L. Gibbs were confirmed by the Aldermen at their Tuesday night meeting:

Mrs. Madeleine F. Keyes, 214 Central St., Auburndale, and Professor Kenneth A. Bernard, 123 Otis St., Newtonville, as trustees of the Jackson Homestead for three years from June 1.

Also, George L. White, 36 Walnut Pk., Newton, as a member of the Park Commission for a period of five years from the first Monday of May.

B.C. Science Workshop to Update Teachers on Space Age Matters

A workshop is science for elementary school teachers in Grades 4, 5 and 6 will bring teachers of New England up to date on the newest space age technology, Boston College announces.

The workshop, scheduled for July 13-17, is co-sponsored by the Jesuit University's School of Education and the Massachusetts Junior Engineering Technical Society, and will explore some of the fundamentals of electricity, astronomy and natural science.

The program will be limited to 100 teachers, and deadline for applications will be June 15.

The workshop director will be Mrs. Marie A. Bonello, Massachusetts State Coordinator of the Junior Engineering Technical Society.

Morning sessions for the teachers will be given over to lectures by specialists and engineers in the fields of electricity and astronomy. In the afternoon sessions, teachers will work with fourth, fifth and sixth grade students from schools in the Greater Boston area on small experiments in the two fields.

An all-day field trip also has been planned at Drumlin Farms, Mrs. Bonello said.

She said invitations to the Workshop have been sent to teachers throughout New England. Some 300 schools in the Greater Boston area have been asked to select top students in science for participation in the program.

"The importance of science in elementary grades is a proven fact," Mrs. Bonello said.

"If we hope to provide industry with the scientists, engineers, and technicians it will need in the future, we should given our children the advantages of a good basic background while they are young," she added.

During the Workshop, she said, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will make its Spacemobile available for use in the program.

Gibbs Elected District Delegate To Convention

Henry Cabot Lodge not only was the overwhelming choice of Newton Republicans for the Presidency in Tuesday's Presidential Primary, but the delegate slates favorable to him carried the city by substantial margins.

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs was elected a district delegate to the GOP national convention to be held at San Francisco in July.

Defeated in his bid for election as a district delegate was William A. Lincoln of Newton, one of the Republican party's best known fund-raisers.

Gibbs and State Senator John F. Parker of Taunton teamed up on a delegate ticket in the 110th congressional district which was supported by Senator Leverett Saltonstall, GOP National Committeeman Richard F. Treadway and the National Draft Lodge Committee.

They won decisively over an opposing ticket composed of Lincoln and Representative David H. Locke of Wellesley.

Gibbs and Parker plan to vote for Lodge if he is a candidate for the Presidential nomination at convention time.

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs this week submitted a recommendation to the Board of Aldermen for the establishment of two new city agencies—a Planning Department and a Redevelopment Authority.

The Mayor's proposal will be studied by the Aldermanic committees on finance and claims and rules.

New Parking Restrictions Sought For Local Streets

A number of recommendations for new parking restrictions on several Newton streets are now under consideration either by the Aldermanic Street Traffic Committee or city agencies.

Alderman Adelaide B. Bell is seeking the establishment of no-parking regulations on both sides of Dalby street in Ward 1 between Watertown street and the northern boundary of the Newton Boys' Club at 101 Dalby st.

The Aldermanic Street Traffic Committee has referred its proposal to the Traffic Commission for its comments and recommendations.

Bernardo Pescosolido has petitioned for a parking ban on both sides of Jewett street in Ward 1 between Washington and Waban streets. His petition had been referred by the Street Traffic Committee to the police department for study.

Alderman George L. Hicks has requested that parking be limited to one hour between 8 a. m. and 3 p. m. on Trowbridge avenue, Kirkstall road and Woodside road on days when Newton High School is in session.

Hicks is asking that this restriction be enforced on both sides of Kirkstall road between Walnut street and Charlesden park; on both sides of Woodside road from Kirkstall road to Mill street; and on both sides of Trowbridge avenue from Walnut street to the end

150 Year History Of Church Marked

The Rt. Rev. Anson P. Stokes, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts, preached the Festival Service of Holy Communion at St. Mary's 150-year-old Episcopal Church of Newton Upper Falls last Sunday, on the occasion of its rededication.

The church was originally dedicated on Apr. 29, 1814, and it was the first Episcopal church built west of Boston following the War of the Revolution, when it was consecrated by the Rt. Rev. Alexander Griswold.

Used in the service were three pieces of silver on loan to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. One was a tankard made by Joseph Austin, (1719-1780) given by William Winthrop and bearing his family's crest. Another was a ciborium (box for wafers at Holy Communion) made by Rufus Green (1707-1777), originally the property of Hugh Hall, Esq., a Boston merchant and great-great grandfather of the donor, Mrs. Muller. The third was a paten made by John Edwards (1670-1746), gift of Ebenezer Steadman, one of the 33 founders of St. Mary's parish.

Fate of Fiery Buck Dumaine As GOP Chairman Uncertain

Now that the members of the Republican State Committee have been elected in Tuesday's Presidential Primary, it will be interesting to see whether Attorney General Edward W. Brooke marshals his forces to oust Frederic C. Dumaine, Jr., from the GOP State Chairmanship.

If Brooke actually is going to seek the Republican nomination for Governor, as some persons close to him insist, he may consider it poor strategy to fight on too many fronts.

Dumaine also might beat Brooke to the punch by stepping out voluntarily.

But unless Dumaine intends to oppose Senator

Warning To Dog Owners

The importance to Newton dog owners of the planned rabies clinic to be held in May cannot be over-estimated.

Our local health department officials can point to a decided decrease in the cases of rabies reported in the Bay State since the wide-spread use of clinics has been employed. In fact, the disease has practically been eliminated in Massachusetts.

However, we are warned that because we are temporarily free of rabies, there is a tendency to forget the importance of dog vaccination. This must be discouraged.

Several cases of the disease have been reported in recent years in neighboring states. It could easily reappear in our Commonwealth.

An annual visit to the clinic by our canine pets will have a tendency to hold the line against the ravages of the disease.

New York Laws May Be Trap

Local motorists who are planning a motor trip to the New York World's Fair are advised of three unique New York state laws which may cause some concern.

If the son or daughter of the family are under age 18 they cannot drive a car anywhere in the Empire State, although they may be legal drivers in this state with its 16-year driving age requirement.

Regardless of their valid Massachusetts license, and even if an adult is sitting beside them, they cannot drive a car in New York State.

New York State has a compulsory insurance law with limits of $10-20,000 bodily injury and $5,000 property damage coverage; higher than ours. Bay State motorists who cannot produce proof of such coverage are liable to stiff fines and could face a jail sentence. Make sure you have sufficient coverage and carry your insurance policy to prove it.

Good tires are required in New York State. The state has a new "safe tire law," first of its kind in the nation. It outlaws tires which are worn, damaged, cut or otherwise weakened.

Police may check tire condition and measure tread, and early reports indicate they are doing just that. Make sure your tires are good to avoid complications.

These three laws are not to be taken lightly, or brushed off casually, by Bay State motorists planning to take the highway route to and from the big show in New York.

Enjoyment of the spectacle could be seriously marred if some untoward incident occured which revealed a motorists to be found wanting in any of the trio of categories.

As a final suggestion. Plan your arrival or departure so as not to be on the highways near the Fair during the commuting hours. Millions of New Yorkers will be jamming the highways at that time; it's a regular, daily routine with them. Keep these suggestions in mind, and have fun—if you have the stamina.

Three-Way Responsibility

Newton motorists are cautioned today to keep a watchful eye on the road for young bicyclists.

Good weather develops the urge to be on the road in our youthful cyclists. They're cleaning and oiling the bikes and wheeling them out into the streets and highways.

The Registry of Motor Vehicles reports that last year in the Bay State, from May to September, there were 982 motor vehicle accidents involving bicyclists in which 1,082 were injured—four fatally.

The caution to be on the alert is directed at the bicyclists as well as the motorists.

Youngsters old enough to have a bike should be old enough to accept the responsibility which such ownership entails. They should be made aware that the bike is not a toy. It is a means of transportation and when propelled on our streets and highways is subject to the motor vehicle laws.

There are accepted safety precautions to be followed by young cyclists. Ride in a single line, on the right side of the road, and stay in one lane; use signals for stopping and changing directions, cross streets at intersections on foot, do not "Hook" rides, do not carry a companion on a one-seater bike, and wear light colored clothing at night.

Bikes must display a front white light and a rear red reflector. It must have reflectorized paint or tapes on both sides of the front fork and rear fender and be equipped with a bell or horn.

Public safety officials warn that parents should observe their child's bicycle riding habits to assure themselves that their youngsters are using their vehicles in a safe manner, and according to law.

The safety of our child cyclists is the joint responsibilty of the parents, the motorists, and the children themselves. The interests of public safety must be served by all three groups. There can be no delegation of blame one to the other when tragedy strikes.

Cadette Girl Scouts Plan Trip To Fair

"Every dime takes us another mile!" This is the cry of the six members of the ninth grade Girl Scout Troop 5 of the Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council who are World's Fair bound in June.

These girls, soon to be awarded the coveted Curved Bar, the highest award in Girl Scouting, will culminate eight years' Scouting experience with a well-earned trip to New York the last weekend in June.

Along with their leaders, Mrs. John Rooney and Mrs. Donald Kimnach, the Scouts have pooled their own personal money, the troop's money and funds from Girl Scout Cookie Sales, and now are embarked on a long-range work program to earn the balance needed. They are willing to work indoors, outdoors, with children and or pets, all at very reasonable rates.

Anyone interested, in the Auburndale - West Newton area, should call BI 4-1247 after 3 p.m. on school days and all day on weekends and vacations.

ious local fire stations and the police garage as headquarters for the clinic. A fee of $1.50 per dog will be charged.

It was decided to hold the clinic would not conflict in any way with last year's vaccination which was held in the Fall. If anything, it will make the dog's immunity to the rabies that much better.

The health department stated that the vaccine used by the city is effective only for one year.

Political Highlights

Edward M. Kennedy in the coming election, it's somewhat difficult to picture him backing away from a fight within the GOP State organization.

A move to depose him as State Chairman could prompt the blunt, hard-hitting Dumaine to battle to hold his position.

Whatever you may think of Dumaine's political views, the fact is that the controversies in which he has engaged have served to let the people know the Republican party is still alive and breathing.

It also is apparent that Dumaine will command substantial support, especially from the conservative elements in the GOP, and it might not be easy to throw him out.

However, the bitterness between Brooke and Dumaine is clearly evident, and if Brooke has hopes of becoming the Republican nominee for Governor, he certainly wouldn't want Dumaine running the party machinery.

In a recent speech before a big GOP audience, Brooke levelled what amounted to a public rebuke at Dumaine.

Brooke sharply criticized Dumaine's decision to hold the Republican State Convention at the Hotel Statler where the facilities would be so limited it would be necessary to bar the general public.

The Attorney General argued that the conclave should be held in some place such as the Boston Garden, the Boston Arena or the Commonwealth Armory.

On that point Brooke was clearly right. With the Republicans trying to stage a political comeback, they should encourage people to attend their convention, not make it impossible for them to do so.

As a result of Brooke's remarks, the Republican State Committee adopted an order requesting Dumaine to try to find some place with more adequate accommodations for the GOP conclave.

With Dumaine's flair for starting arguments, stirring controversies and attracting attention, it's strange that he ever planned the convention in a place so small the public could not witness the proceedings.

Governor Candidates Should Face Tax Issue

Governor Peabody has been criticized—and with some justification—for resorting to gimmick financing in order to avoid the need for enacting new taxes in an election year.

But none of the candidates for the Governorship has presented any real program for meeting the financial dilemma confronting the Commonwealth. Ex-Rep. Francis W. Perry probably has come the closest to doing so.

Present estimates are that the State will need between $50 and $60 million in additional taxes next year in order to pay its bills. By the time next year arrives that figure undoubtedly will be revised upwards.

A great deal more would have to be raised if the State were to provide additional assistance for the cities and towns, many of which are faced with the prospect of big tax rate jumps.

Governor Peabody has indicated that something should be done next year to help the local communities, but he has not revealed how he feels this could be done.

When Peabody signed into law the bill establishing a minimum $5000-a-year salary standard for school teachers, he said the State should take steps NEXT YEAR to pay the expense involved. What steps does he have in mind?

All the candidates for Governor, including Peabody, should tell the people in plain, understandable language what new taxes they would propose in order to get the money which will be needed.

They should also state whether they favor aid for the cities and towns and, if so, how they would do it.

There will be no magic or painless method of raising $60 or $100 million.

Actually, there are only two ways it can be done. The first is by adopting a sales tax, the second is by enacting a whopping increase in the State income taxes.

Peabody made a half-hearted attempt last year to boost the State income taxes after the voters themselves had rejected a proposal for a graduated State income tax. His bill was overwhelmingly rejected.

That leaves a sales tax as the only real solution to the financial problem confronting the Commonwealth.

Most candidates are understandably reluctant to state in a campaign where they stand on the matter of enacting new taxes. They would much prefer to take the attitude that it is a bridge they will cross if and when they reach it.

Yet, this is something which the people are entitled to know, and it is time that some of the candidates began treating the voters as adults.

They also should know which candidates are prepared to face up to the problems they would be called upon to meet if they are elected and which prefer to sweep problems under the rug.

This really is just as important as whether John Volpe worked as hard as he should have in the 1962 campaign or whether Endicott Peabody stumbled over his own words in declaring that he would recommend clemency for convicted murderers.

One of the frequent boasts of Democratic leaders is that Massachusetts is among the few States in the entire nation which have enacted no new taxes in recent years.

That might even be one of Governor Peabody's arguments as to why he should be re-elected although it seems somewhat unlikely that Peabody would resort to such hypocrisy.

If he should, it would be well to remember that the only reason Peabody is getting by this year without new taxes is that he is utilizing the gimmick of accelerated tax collections to get the money he needs.

The likelihood is that by next year we will have exhausted our supply of gimmicks.

Another thing to watch is whether the politicians who draft the platforms of the two political parties at their State Conventions in June face up to realities or indulge in fakery.

If either platform promises things which will cost many millions of dollars and then winds up with the pledge that there will be no new taxes, mark it down as sheer sham.

The simple truth is that there is no way of avoiding new taxes next year even if no additional programs are launched.

What this points up, of course, is that the men standing for the Governorship are battling for the right to assume a monumental headache.

They should tell the people what they are going to do about that headache if they win it.

Presidential Primary Could Have Meaning

Every four years at this time, the cry goes up that the Presidential Primary in Massachusetts is meaningless, that it isn't worth the money it costs to hold it, that the voters largely ignore it and that something should be done about the situation.

What should be done, of course, is that the members of the Legislature and the Governor should change the laws so that the Presidential Primary would have real meaning.

It's ridiculous that Presidential candidates stump across New Hampshire in February and early March in quest of that State's small bloc of delegate votes but don't come near Massachusetts in April.

The reason for that paradox is that the top Bay State political leaders, both Republicans and Democrats, want to go uncommitted to the two national conventions.

They want to be free to vote any way they wish. They don't want to be bound by an expression of sentiment by the voters. And they have successfully resisted proposals for the enactment of laws which would bind them.

If a law were adopted providing that the Presidential Preference vote by the people was a mandate which bound the delegates to vote on at least one or two ballots for the candidate in their party who polled the biggest vote, the Presidential Primary would assume real significance.

Under those conditions the Presidential contenders would come into Massachusetts to campaign, and the peop' would turn out to vote.

But as long as their Presidential Preference votes carry no real weight with the politicians, most people are not going to take the time to go to the polls. It's as simple as that.

Driving and dreaming don't mix, warns the Automobile Legal Association. When driving, stay alert. Keep your mind on your driving, your eyes on the road. If you feel sleepy, don't rush to get home to bed. Pull off the road and take a nap.

DOUBLE BIRTHDAY PARTY—Rabbi Emeritus and Mrs. Herman H. Rubenovitz who will be feted on their 80th birthday observances at Temple Mishkan in Newton, Sunday, May 10th.

Temple To Fete Rabbi And Wife On Birthday

The congregation of Temple Mishkan Tefila, of Newton, will fete Rabbi Emeritus and Mrs. Herman H. Rubenovitz on their 80th birthdays at a gala celebration to be held at the social hall, 300 Hammond Pond Parkway, Sunday night, May 10th.

He was rabbi emeritus of the Temple when it moved to Newton from Roxbury in October of 1957.

The committee under the chairmanship of David Stern is making final plans for the occasion, which will start with a cocktail hour at 6 o'clock, to be followed by a full course dinner. Reservations may be made by calling the Temple office at DE 2-7770.

Rabbi Rubenovitz came to Boston in 1910 to accept the pulpit at Temple Mishkan Tefila then located on Moreland Street, Roxbury. At that time the Rabbi was only two years out of the Jewish Theological Seminary and it fell to his lot to bring to New England the message of Conservative Judaism.

This concept was then a new departure from the Orthodox and the Reform movements — a different approach and attitude not only in the matter of the synagogue service and the Religious School, but the Conservative movement also eagerly embraced the Zionist ideology of the rebuilding and reestablishing Israel as the Homeland of the Jews.

Temple Mishkan Tefila, under the leadership of Rabbi Rubenovitz, became the pioneer of the Conservative attitude and the center of Zionist activity for New England.

Throughout his life Rabbi Rubenovitz has visited the many communities in New England on behalf of Conservative Judaism, ever assisting in the formation of Conservative Synagogues and Religious Schools.

In 1915 he married Mignon Levin of Baltimore. She had made her mark in the field of higher education and her Jewish background prepared her to assume leadership in the Synagogue as well as in Zionist activities in the role of organizer, author, and lecturer.

Together, Rabbi and Mrs. Rubenovitz spent thirty-five fruitful years at Temple Mishkan Tefila—serving the New England Jewish Community. In 1945, because of physical considerations, the Rabbi relinquished his stewardship and was thereupon made Rabbi Emeritus.

Professor Seeks School Papers

An Ohio State University professor would be highly grateful if Newton residents would comb their attics or other storage places for old school report cards, teachers' certificates or reward-of-merit cards that once belonged to a family member.

Paper like that, says Robert B. Suton, associate professor of History of Education, are helpful to students who are trying to understand the development of American schools. They get lost so easily, he adds, that few can be found to show sudents who are training to become teachers.

Even if the papers are only a few years old, Prof. Sutton will be happy to receive them at Ohio State University, Columbus 10, Ohio.

Local Educator Warns Of Liberal Arts Destruction

RICHARD M. MILLARD

The obituary of liberal arts education could be written within a relatively short time, and the forces that destroy it are already at work, a Boston University educator and Newton resident, warned last Friday.

"Liberal arts colleges could well join the select company of passenger pigeons, dodos and schools of elocution," said Dean Richard M. Millard, of Newton, of the University's College of Liberal Arts as he addressed the annual initiation of Boston University students into Phi Beta Kappa, scholastic honorary society.

A complex series of revolutions, including specializations in colleges, improvement of high school curricula, and the development of separate graduate and undergraduate faculties, could mean the "squeezing out of the existence or the dismemberment of the liberal arts colleges," Dean Millard told the audience in his address entitled "Liberal Arts in Crisis" and delivered at the University's George Sherman Union.

And, he said, the destruction is happening despite the apparent popularity of the liberal arts education. "While the flourishing of the arts and sciences may be attributed to such things as national affluence which permits a longer term in college and the bachelor of arts degree as a status symbol, the fundamental reason has been a growing awareness on the part of the general public of the crucial need for liberal education as a prerequisite for intelligent leadership and citizenship in the complex, confused, contemporary world," he said.

The popularity and actual growth in student population, have resulted in a deluge of applications by able students to better liberal arts colleges across the country, Dean Millard said.

The future for liberal arts education, however, could be bright, he said, if specialization, or concentration, "serves to focus or bring into meaningful perspective knowledge of broad areas of study; if curriculum is made flexible so that it is adaptable to the particular needs and abilities of particular students; and if improvement in secondary schools is welcomed and encouraged.

"The integrity of the bachelor's degree must be preserved," he said. "The continuity and strength of the baccalaureate program must be developed in order to produce graduates with sufficient grasp of their own field in relation to other fields," he said. And, he added, liberal arts education can be saved if the two faculties formula is rejected and the development of teaching aids is welcomed and utilized "for the enhancement and enrichment within the purposes of liberal education itself."

He further warned that "teaching aids, including programmed learning, teaching machines, television and the like, are to the good. They can indeed enrich and upgrade liberal education, but they can become curses when it is assumed they are not aids to effective teaching, but substitutes to it."

Libertl education is dying, or will die, the educator said, in any institution that "has no clear conception of what the goals of liberal education are; that is unwilling to experiment; that has hardened departmental lines and narrow professional outlook which make interdisciplinary discussion or planning difficult or impossible; and that is convinced there is only one pattern of liberal education, and what was good for dear old grandad is good enough for us."

New Disaster Plan Copies Sent To City's Participating Agencies

Newton Community Council is distributing copies of the recently revised disaster plan affecting fewer than five families to the 18 city departments and organizations participating in the plan.

According to the plan, need in each family will be determined on a case-work basis, and contact will be established with participating agencies to provide financial assistance, housing, household equipment, etc., where needed.

This Plan, initiated in 1949 by Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, and Newton Community Council, provides community coordination of efforts in helping families when fewer than five are involved in a natural disaster such as fire, flood, explosion, storm and who need immediate material assistance and counsel from community resources.

Newton Chapter American Red Cross assumes responsibility for five or more families affected by catastrophies. Emergencies involving less than five families, which usually do not disrupt a community, are the responsibility of the existing community agencies and in Newton are handled through this special plan.

Participating agencies and departments and their representatives include Mayor Donald L. Gibbs, Philip Purcell, Chief of Police Dept., Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., Chief of Fire Dept., George S. Wattendorf, director, Public Welfare Dept., Dr. Henry M. Greenleaf, commissioner, Newton Health Dept., Carleton P. Merrill, agent, Veterans' Services Dept., William Carmen, chairman, Newton Housing Authority, Leigh G. Packer, director Newton Civil Defense Dept., Anthony Jaureguy, chairman, Newton Chapter Red Cross.

Senator Kennedy Reports

By SENATOR EDWARD M. KENNEDY

Some five months have passed since my last report to you on legislative matters. During this time each of us, in his own way, has felt deeply the passing of President Kennedy. This has been a time of great sadness for those of us who were near to him and who loved him—a time of contemplation and rededication. It is not easy to pick up again and start forward. It must be done.

We have received many thousands of letters of sympathy from people throughout the country and from abroad. One of these messages—from a child — seems to capture best our feelings about the President:

"I feel awfully bad about President Kennedy's death. I am only 11 years old but he made me feel that I too can do something for my country. I must study hard and pray to God every day. The President made us in the sixth grade very proud to know him."

Joan and I are deeply grateful for the warmth and support which we have received during these past months from our friends in Massachusetts and throughout the nation.

We are most appreciative of the response which has been made to the fund-raising campaign for the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Library to be built in Boston. Many memorials to the President have been proposed, and some already have been established. But I feel that the most meaningful tribute will be this Library because it was a project close to the President's heart.

The Library will belong to all the people. It is particularly fitting, therefore, that as many people as possible help build it. Thus far, the citizens of Massachusetts have contributed over $500,000. These contributions have ranged from large donations to the nickels and dimes of school children.

"This Library will be more than just a memorial to the President. It will be a Museum to exhibit the mementos of his life and times. It will be an Archive where scholars can examine the President's personal papers. It will be an Institute which will seek to encourage young people to take up the teaching and practices of democratic political life. With all these, we hope to keep alive and growing the great ideals and inspirations of President Kennedy.

Civil Rights

The big attention-getter currently before the Senate is the Civil Rights Bill. It is an historic and extremely vital Bill. Its aim is to establish for all citizens, regardless of race, creed, color or national origin, equal rights and opportunities to vote, to learn, to earn a living and to move about in public without restriction.

Because I felt this measure was of such great importance, I devoted by "Maiden Speech" to it on the Senate floor. It is my intention to do all I can to keep the current Bill intact and to bring about its passage. Massachusetts, a pioneer state in the field of human rights, has in effect most of the major proposals in the Bill. It has a Fair Employment Practices Act, a Fair Educational Practices Act, provisions against discrimination in public accommodations and facilities, an objective literacy test in voting, and a Commission Against Discrimination to investigate grievances and enforce the laws. For too long, other sections of our country have denied these fundamental rights to our citizens, and thus the Bill will give these areas an opportunity to make the progress Massachusetts already enjoys.

Debate on this Bill has already been long and serious. Opponents are well-organized and have served warning that they will talk on this measure until it either is defeated or sufficiently weakened to destroy its effectiveness. We who support the Bill have not sat on our haunches, however. We are organized into special groups healed by field captains and lieutenants. The field captains and lieutenants are assigned to "duty watches" on the Senate floor, to be ready to join in discussion and challenge any attempt to distort the true meaning of the Bill or further delay action. In addition, I am also a "coordinator" whose job is to keep the Bill's supporters constantly informed so they can be rounded up in a moment's notice for quorum calls. Other freshman Senators have similar assignments.

So far we have had good success with quorum calls, keeping pressure unabated on the debate. As this newsletter is being prepared, no one can predict how long the debate will continue, or whether it will end with the invoking of cloture, because there are too many factors affecting the outcome.

NASA Research Center

Since my last report, Congress has given final approval to Massachusetts as the site for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's much needed electronics research center. The decision to bring this important center to Massachusetts is certainly a tribute to our educational institutions, our industries, our skilled labor pool and our communities which over the years has created an ideal environment for research and study. It also is a tribute to the entire Massachusetts Congressional Delegation, all of whose members were tireless in their efforts to exhibit a strong presentation in behalf of their State.

Best estimates are that the Center will involve $60 million in research facilities and equipment; thousands of new jobs; over 12 million man-hours of employment during the construction phase, and $38 million a year in wages flowing into the local economy.

It will stimulate new ideas in electronic equipment and propulsion techniques for future space flight programs. It will also provide needed coordination and development of private and government projects in this field.

Problems Of The Aging

It is heartening to report that substantial efforts are now underway to meet the problems of the aged. Bills are pending which would change the Social Security Act to bring it in line with present day needs. And President Johnson has urged action be be completed on the Medicare Bill by this Congress. As this Bill's co-sponsor, I intend to do all I can to hasten it along to final passage.

..A. Special. Committee. on Aging has been established in the Senate to give stronger attention to the needs of our elderly and to recommend ways to meet these needs. It was a great honor for me to be named Acting Chairman of this Committee's Subcommittee on Federal, State and Community Services for the Elderly.

The Subcommittee held its first field hearing in Boston and it certainly was a rewarding erperience to see Gardner Auditorium at the State House packed to capacity with interested and vocal citizens. It was particularly heart-warming to meet with the number of elderly residents of Massachusetts who traveled many miles at their own expense to make their feelings known to representatives of their federal government.

The Boston hearing was particularly helpful in developing meaningful areas of inquiry for these additional hearings, which were conducted in Providence and in Saginaw, Michigan. When our study is completed, we plan to submit a comprehensive report calling for improved and better-coordinated services for our senior citizens.

I am also a member of the Senate Subcommittee on Frauds and Misrepresentations affecting the elderly, which is probing fraudulent claims about communities and homes for retirement, medical "cure-alls" and services, insurance plans, and other servvices offered our older citizens. This newsletter, we are confident, will contain in the near future many examples of positive action by the Congress to provide more comfort and confidence in the golden years of our senior citizens.

Mental Illness

Therea re now about 700,000 mentally ill and retarded patients in this nation's institutions. Beyond these are many million other citizens who are victims of mental retardation. tI is estimated that at least one person in every 12 has a direct and personal association with this problem, either through their family or friends. It represents an enormous cost in human resources. in wasted opportunities, in untold sucering and tragedy.

The resources of the federal government are finally being brought to bear on these problems due to the enlightened support directedt oward programs in this area. Under the leadership of President Kennedy. legislation to provide $150 million for training teachers in this field, was enacted by Congress. I supported this legislation, and among my major interests will be a continued program of research and development of facilities in. this. too-long. neglected area. ....

Massachusetts alone has over 27,000 persons institutionalized because of these afflictions, at an averaeg cost of over $2,000 per patient per year. It is my hope that some day this problem of mental retardation may no longer be a major one for our country.

Tax Bill

Congress has moved along in good stride since the beginning of the year in an effort to improve its record of legislation. The tax bill was passed less than a month after the session opened. It is a good bill and gives the first substantial tax relief to the nation in many years. The purpose of this legislation is to stimulate sepnding and encourage the expansion of industry, with a view toward reducing unemployment and bolstering our economy.

The hope, of course, is that the increase in business, which the tax cut should generate, will return—in the long run—enough tax reevnues to balance the budget and cut the national debt, provided that government spending is restrained.

Voters League Women Report On Convention

Three local delegates who attended last week's convention of the League of Women Voters of the United States in Pittsburgh have brought back reports on the program of action and study that was adopted.

Mrs. Proctor Haughton, Newton League president; Mrs. Leopold Beckwith, state Board member, and Mrs. Ralph Rosenbaum, local Board member, agree that "Development of Human Resources" is the title under which the national League will evaluate policies and programs "to provide for all citizens equality of opportunity for education and employment."

Also, they report, the League will support U. S. policies which strengthen the United Nations system and its ability to keep the peace.

"The high spot of the convention," reports Mrs. Houghton, "was the unexpected request of President Lyndon B. Johnson to address us." The President announced that Sept. 13-19 will be "National League of Women Voters Week". He asked the League to aid him in building a "greater society" and reaffirmed his stand that he has declared unconditional war on poverty.

Secretary Willard Wirtz, in his talk before introducing the President, said that the League should be a clearing house for what is being done in education and employment to develop human resources. He said, "men are preoccupied with rights, women with responsibilities."

ALA Warns Of Road Bird Pair

Two "road birds" we can do without, says the safety department of the Automobile Legal Association, are swivel - necked slow - poke springtime robins and the hard-headed lead-foot variety, both of whom are brought out by spring-like weather.

The former, ALA says, is especially fond of sunny Sundays, and drives slowly to enjoy the scenery, spending as much time looking around as he does observing the road ahead.

The latter has no time to waste on the road. If he can't pass a car, he'll indulge in any kind of maneuver to get ahead.

A 10-member delegate-at-large slate headed by Senator Leverett Saltonstall and Attorney General Edward W. Brooke prevailed easily in Newton over a "grass roots" young Republican ticket considered friendly to Goldwater.

The Saltonstall - Brooke contingent, while officially uncommitted, has indicated its intention of backing Lodge at the convention.

Goldwater adherents found little cause for elation in the Newton returns.

The returns gave Lodge 2656 votes, Goldwater 294, Richard M. Nixon 147, Governor Nelson Rockefeller 145, Governor William Scranton 97 and Senator Margaret Chase Smith 5.

An interesting sidelight to the Garden City Presidential Preference vote was that Attorney General Brooke, a Newton resident, received 61 votes for President.

Mayor Gibbs was the high vote-getter in the GOP district delegate contest, polling 2095 votes, Senator Parker, his running mate, received 1758.

On the opposing slate Lincoln drew 1174 votes and Locke 1116.

Senator Saltonstall with 2895 votes topped the Republican delegate-at-large candidates in Newton. Former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was close behind him with 2803.

Then came Attorney General Brooke with 2786, George C. Lodge with 2782 and ex-Governor John A. Volpe with 2734 votes.

The high man on the opposing young Republican ticket got only 512 votes.

Mrs. Katherine F. Bruce of Newton rolled up an impressive 768-vote plurality in her home city over Sarah E. Kenney of Boston in their contest for election as Republican State Committeewoman from the Norfolk-Suffolk senatorial district.

The Newton returns gave Mrs. Bruce 943 votes and Mrs. Kenney 175 votes.

In the fight for the place as Republican State Committeeman from the Norfolk - Middlesex senatorial district Stanley Miller of Newton outdistanced three opponents in his home city.

President Lyndon B. Johnson was the Presidential choice of 1604 Newton Democrats, while Robert F. Kennedy polled 296 Presidential write-in votes in this city.

Lodge picked up the votes of 47 Newton Democrats. Adlai Stevenson drew 44 votes and Senator Hubert Humphrey 32.

Senator Edward M. Kennedy ran first in Newton in the Democratic delegate-at-large popularity contest, with [illegible]her, Bobby, 308 votes behind him. Ted received 2203 votes in this city and Bobby 1895.

Former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Jr., made a good showing in Newton with 1908 votes.

Governor Peabody stood up somewhat better in Newton than he did in most areas.

Robert W. Gallagher of Newton was reelected to the Democratic State Committee from the Norfolk-Middlesex senatorial district. Runnerup to him was Representative Irving Fishman of Newton.

Curry College Festival Draws Local Citizens

Many Newton residents attended the International Festival presented by the students of Curry College in Milton last Friday evening, April 24, in the college auditorium.

The program presented a portrayal of the cultures of many peoples of the world.

Attending from Newton were Dr. and Mrs. Wilfred Chagnon, Professor and Mrs. Kirtley F. Mather, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Drapkin, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Valley, and Mrs. Francis J. Flagg.

Dr. Willard P. Lombard is president of the board of trustees; Dr. Howard D. Wood is president of the college.

Combined Choirs, Soloists, Will Present Pops Concert

The combined choirs of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church will present a Pops Concert in the parish hall of the church, 54 Lincoln street, on Friday, May 8, at 8 o'clock.

Featured soloists will be Marsha Vleck, soprano, and C. Ray Bryan, tenor. Miss Vleck, a native of Chicago, receives her Master of Music degree at the New England Conservatory of Music this spring. She will sing a group of folk songs arranged by Benjamin Britten.

Mr. Bryan is well known in the Greater Boston area, having appeared as soloist with the Lexington Choral Society and the Handel and Haydn Society. He will sing a group of songs by Schubert and will join with Miss Vleck in a duet from the Strauss operetta "Der Fledermaus".

The Junior and Youth Choirs will sing novelty numbers by Copland and Britten together with the current favorite "Dominique." Among the offerings by the Senior Choir will be two songs from "Alice in Wonderland" by Irving Fine, late professor of music at Brandeis University. The program will also include music by the Cobras, a local jazz combo, and other novelty numbers.

The entire concert is under the direction of Edward H. Hastings, organist and choirmaster of the church. Tickets may be purchased from members of the various choirs or at the door. All are cordially invited.

City Leads In Construction

Newton placed well up with state leaders in the value of new construction planned last year, according to the annual report of the division of statistics of the state department of labor and industries.

Following were some of the important Newton structures listed:

Boston College, school, $1,500,000; Newton - Wellesley Hospital, medical building, $800,000; Sisters of St. Joseph parochial school, $600,000; Video Independent theaters, Channel 7 TV tower, $590,000.

Parcel Post Service Cut

Parcel post will be delivered in Newton only five days a week starting next week, it was announced yesterday by President Kenneth T. Lyons of the National Association of Government Employees.

Beginning on Monday of next week, evening, Sunday and national holiday service will be discontinued at the main postoffice in downtown Boston. Saturday window service for stamps, registry, parcel post and general delivery will be provided from 8 a.m. to noon.

Effective Saturday, May 9, window service will be adjusted on Saturdays by discontinuing money orders, postal savings, meter settings, trust fund deposits and box rent collections.

Bicycle riders increase in number with the advent of spring and summer. The Massachusetts Safety Council urges motorists and bicyclists to make caution their co-pilot.

Parents should be certain their children know and practice safe bicycling habits, advises the Massachusetts Safety Council. Research shows that 90 per cent of the bicycle accidents in the Bay State involve children age 5 to 14.

Prodigal Son, Forgiveness To Be Discussed

The story of the prodigal son will be read at Christian Science churches Sunday to illustrate how God's mercy and forgiveness come to all who repent and forsake sin. The subject of the Bible Lesson is "Everlasting Punishment" and the Golden Text is: "Thou, Lord, art good, and ready to forgive; and plenteous in mercy unto all them that call upon thee" (Psalms 86:5).

"The poor suffering heart needs its rightful nutriment, such as peace, patience in tribulation, and a priceless sense of the dear Father's loving-kindness" is one of the selections which will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 365).

Of Texas' 254 counties, 77 are about the same size as Rhode Island.

Open House on Child Adoption on Tuesday

Mrs. James H. Kendall, 133 Park Street, Newton, (near the Bigelow Junior High School,) will be holding Open House at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, May 5, and cordially invites men and women interested in the subject of adoption to attend.

Mrs. Kendall is a member of the Community Relations Committee which is a part of the Family Recruitment Project sponsored as a community service by the Division of Child Guardianship, Department of Public Welfare, under the direction of Miss Evelyn Oakes.

The Committee meets once a month at 600 Washington Street, Boston, in association with the following participating adoption agencies: Avon Home, Boston Children's Services Association, Catholic Charitable Bureau, Church Home Society (which is affiliated with the Episcopal Church), Jewish Family and Children's Services, and the New England Home for Little Wanderers.

The purpose of the Committee is to try to find good homes for all adoptive children in the area, but particularly children of special consideration, such as minority groups, older children, sibling groups and handicapped children with special needs. They also hope to inform the public of the true picture of adoption, and to correct many misconceptions about agencies, methods and qualifications. Those interested are asked to call 969-6548.
